Argentina Set To Keep Spirit Of Solidarity

Plans to Present 4 Projects at Confab Of American Nations

HAVANA.—(P)—Argentina, the big question mark of the Pan-American conference on hemisphere defense, indicated today a desire to retain the spirit of inter-American solidarity.

Leopoldo Melo, head of the Argentine delegation, said his country was ready to present four projects on the following subjects:

1. Foreign possessions.
2. Inter-American neutrality and security zone.
3. Protection of children.
4. Coordination of defense measures.

The proposals, he said, are couched in language showing Argentina wishes to maintain the present status of a unified hemisphere.

Argentina Chamber Votes Defense Fund

Buenos Aires.—(P)—The Argentine chamber of deputies, after an all-night session, approved early today a vast re-armament expenditures measure sponsored by the administration. The bill now goes to the senate.

Although the chamber's deliberations were conducted in utmost secrecy, the newspaper El Mundo said it learned on good authority the government had asked for appropriations totaling 1,115,000,000 pesos ($334,500,000).

This sum was said to be divided as follows: 680,000,000 pesos ($204,000,000) for the army, 385,000,000 pesos ($115,500,000) for the navy and 30,000,000 pesos ($9,000,000) for war industries.

A new United States proposal dealing with the menace of "fifth column" activities in the Americas was also disclosed as the conference awaited the text of the Argentine proposal.

This proposal, a companion to an earlier proposal aimed at diplomatic and consular officials, was described as more sweeping in character and designed to form a

Relief From Heat Is Promised for Tonight

The prolonged heat wave showed signs of cracking today as a mass of cool air advanced from the northwest, but Appleton sweltered again as the mercury climbed past the 90 mark. It was 95 degrees at 1 o'clock this afternoon in the city.

Cloudy, with cooling showers tonight, cloudy and cooler Friday is the pleasing forecast issued today by the Milwaukee weather bureau.

A change in wind shortly before noon yesterday was seized upon by suffering citizens as an indication of cooler weather. The thermometer fell from 90 degrees at 11 o'clock in the morning to 84 at 1 o'clock in the afternoon, but had climbed back to the day's high of 92 by 4 o'clock in the afternoon. Hourly temperatures yesterday in Appleton were 8 a. m., 81; 9 a. m., 87; 10 a. m., 90; 11 a. m., 90; noon, 96; 1 p. m., 94; 2 p. m., 95; 3 p. m., 90; 4 p. m., 92.

Special Tribunal To Try Daladier

Vichy, France.—(P)—A special tribunal will be set up to try former Premier Edouard Daladier and other former government leaders for responsibility for France's entry into war and for her defeat, it was indicated today.

Establishment of the tribunal can be expected shortly, it was indicated, and some journalists may be tried along with the government leaders.

A military court will look into the cases of men who were in the armed forces at the time of incurring alleged responsibilities for the war. They will be investigated for responsibility for the unsuccessful military leadership.

Legal Words Run Into Money

In a New York court a woman litigant refused to pay her lawyer $75 for writing a statement of 29 words. Litigant was wrong. That's only about $2.60 per word. Very reasonable. A lawyer is supposed to think before he writes anything, and think twice before signing his name. It's when people write first and think afterwards that they get nicked. That's why great care is given to The Post-Crescent classified wanted ads. The results of this one proved it.

WANTED TO RENT—5 or 6 room house. 3 adults. By Aug. 1. Reliable. Tel. 4076.

80 Nazi Planes Raid Convoy

Driven Back Across Channel; Use Captured U. S. Warplanes

London.—(P)—About eighty German planes swarmed down on a merchant convoy off the southeast coast today, but their bombs missed, and the attackers were driven off by fierce anti-aircraft fire and fighter planes which chased them back across the English channel.

Eyewitnesses said the air "was alive with aircraft" during the battle.

Anti-aircraft guns roared into action and shell-bursts dotted the sky. There came to shore watchers the rattle of machine-guns as fighting planes attacked the raiders.

No bombs were dropped at first. Earlier invading planes were reported over southwest England. The night had passed without air raids—a rarity now.

Petroleum and Scrap Iron on Embargo List

Ban Not in Effect But Power Provided To Control Exports

Washington.—(P)—President Roosevelt today added petroleum and petroleum products, scrap iron and other scrap metal to the list of commodities subject to possible embargo.

He signed an order subjecting these to a system of export licensing, should it be deemed necessary, soon after Secretary Morgenthau confirmed stoppage of two shipments of oil to Spain.

The order amended a proclamation and regulations issued last July 2 designed to keep in this country materials essential to the national defense.

The law these regulations implemented provided legal authority for the control of exports of munitions, materials, and machinery needed for defense.

Stephen Early, presidential secretary, said the order did not mean

Washington.—(P)—Secretary Morgenthau said today the United States had pledged "every facility" to enable the British to buy 3,000 military airplanes a month in this country, in addition to huge orders previously placed.

Confirming an announcement in London by Lord Beaverbrook, the treasury head said that the new arrangement was in addition to all previous orders, and would require construction of new factories.

The British have promised to pay for the erection of the new factories as well as to buy their output, Morgenthau added.

The secretary asserted that the treasury, war and navy departments were in complete accord on the commitment, and that William S. Knudsen, production member of the defense commission, had agreed to undertake to work out the details.

He said the new factories involved in the program would give the United States capacity to build "far in excess" of 50,000 planes a year, set by President Roosevelt as a goal in his May 16 defense message. He declined to estimate the exact capacity planned.

Saying that the British "seem to have plenty of money," Morgenthau said that the "sums involved are colossal."

"For our own national defense and for the benefit of American industry," he continued, "I believe this is the most important thing with which I have come in contact."

Specifically, Morgenthau explained, the British proposed immediate action so that they could get delivery on 3,000 airplanes during each month of 1941 and 1942.

More Planes For England

U. S. Pledges 'Every Facility' to Build 3,000 Per Month

Washington.—(P)—Secretary Morgenthau said today the United States had pledged "every facility" to enable the British to buy 3,000 military airplanes a month in this country, in addition to huge orders previously placed.

U. S. Lifts Lien Against Carrozzo

Chicago.—(P)—The federal government lifted its $241.88 income tax lien against Michael J. Carrozzo today after the labor leader posted bond indicating he would fight the assessment.

First Husband of Duchess of Windsor Is Divorced by Wife

Santa Monica, Calif.—(P)—Commander Earl Winfield Spencer, retired navy officer and first husband of the duchess of Windsor, has been divorced by the former Norma Reese Johnson on grounds of habitual intemperance and cruelty.

Mrs. Spencer, who married Spencer three years ago after the death of her first husband, a Detroit manufacturer, testified with two daughters by a previous marriage that Spencer went on week-long binges and, when he became intoxicated, would speak Chinese and was "really a mental case."

Mrs. Spencer, who said her income was "about $4,200," was denied a petition for $100 a month alimony when the divorce was granted yesterday, but was given title to the family automobile.

Spencer and his first wife, now the wife of England's former King Edward VIII, were married 23 years ago and were living at Coronado, Calif., when the young Mrs. Spencer met the prince at Wales. They were divorced in 1927 and each remarried twice.

Hoffman Gets Contract for New Courthouse

Appleton Firm Has $306,824 Low Bid; Work Starts Monday

The courthouse building committee yesterday awarded the general contract for construction of Outagamie county's new courthouse to the Hoffman Construction company, Appleton, on its low bid of $306,824.

Raymond LeVe, architect, was instructed by the committee to have the contractor begin work Monday razing the present jail, on which site the new building will stand.

The winning bidder submitted a base bid of $320,054, but the committee selected alternatives which brought the figure down to $306,824. The new building is to be completed in 16 months.

W. C. Smith, Duluth, who had submitted a bid of $294,000, earlier this week was allowed to withdraw his proposal after he told the committee he had made a $100,000 error in his figures. Seventeen other bids for the general contract were considered by the building committee.

Other low offers were: Jensen Construction company, Minneapolis, $333,900; Koepke Construction company, Appleton, $334,470; and George Solitt and Sons, Chicago, $345,627. The highest of the 19 bids was entered by Oliver Weidman, Milwaukee, $401,000.

The building committee will meet again Friday afternoon to consider bids on plumbing, heating and air conditioning, ventilation and electrical work. Bids also have been received on elevators. However, the committee is expected to take up the elevator and air conditioning questions before the county board.

Eight plumbing bids have been received, sixteen heating and air conditioning bids, ten ventilation bids, six electrical bids and three elevator bids.

Football Bows to Book-Learning

Baton Rouge, La.—(P)—The circus-like spectacle the late Kingfish Huey Long made of Louisiana State university football is taking a back seat to book-learning.

Newly elected Governor Sam Houston Jones has served notice that his promised reforms must extend to the university gridiron as well as to state affairs. Football won't be curtailed, he hastened to add, but it will be de-emphasized.

"The state university exists for something other than putting out winning football teams," he told the new board of supervisors.

The supervisors knew already that L. S. U. athletics had gone in the red nearly $100,000 last season. This added to a $133,462.80 deficit for the year before.

All of this means, the authorities made clear, that there won't be any more cross country football excursions for the student body at the university's expense.

Nazis Torpedo French Vessel

British Report Says About 300 Officers And Men Feared Dead

London.—(P)—A German motor torpedo boat which darted close to England's great Portland naval base sank the French ship Meknes last night with the probable loss of 300 of the 1,300 French naval officers and men being repatriated to France.

First Lord of the Admiralty A. V. Alexander told the house of commons the German craft disregarded the French flag flying at the Meknes' mast and the French colors painted on her decks and sides.

British warships picked up 1,000 survivors after "this deliberate and callous attack," Alexander said.

"The Meknes was torpedoed by a motor boat at 10:30 last night," he told the house. "Passengers and crew were given five minutes to take to the boats but each time she tried to signal her name she was again fired on and sank in four or five minutes."

Although it was too early to say just how many perished, Alexander said the dead might number 300.

He asserted the Meknes was one of a number of ships used in accordance with the terms of the German-French armistice and that the French government's representatives had been informed in advance of the British intention to repatriate the men in French ships.

Woman Protests Because Her Age Pension Is Doubled

Des Moines, Iowa.—(P)—A wrathful Iowa old-age pensioner wants to know why her monthly check was hiked to $26.60 when she was getting along very well, thank you, on $13.

"I am getting everything I need and keeping my doctor bill paid up and he is well pleased about it," she wrote the state social welfare board.

"I asked the county investigator to let me have just $13 a month but I see he hasn't paid any attention to it. When $13 a month makes all I need, I don't know what he expects me to do with the rest."

"$26.60 is a little better than twice the amount I have been getting and what would make things pretty ugly for me."

State officials promised to see if they could not relieve her of the burdensome extra purchasing power.

Hull has been elected president of the conference's peace commission and Dr. Melo was chosen to head the neutrality commission.

Johnson, Assistant War Secretary, Quits Office

Roosevelt to Offer Him New Position; New York Federal Judge Succeeds Him

Washington.—(P)—The White House announced today the resignation of Louis Johnson as assistant secretary of war and the nomination of Robert Porter Patterson of New York, judge of the Second United States Circuit Court of Appeals, as his successor.

Stephen Early, presidential secretary, told reporters that "since time immemorial, a cabinet officer has had the right to select his assistant secretary and that Henry L. Stimson, new secretary of war, had asked the chief executive to name Patterson."

Early said Johnson had resigned yesterday and flown to Bohemian Grove, near San Francisco.

As soon as President Roosevelt can get around to it, Early said, he will wire Johnson an acceptance of his resignation and "advise him that he is confidently expecting him, as soon as he has had a rest, to return to Washington for continued service with the government."

There were indications that Johnson might become a presidential administrative assistant—filling the last of six such jobs at the White House.

Helped Develop Defense

Johnson, onetime national commander of the American Legion, has been associated intimately with the developing defense program.

"If Louis accepts the administrative assistant's job—and we hope that he will," Early said, "it is the president's intention to have him, as an official member of the White House family, become his eyes and ears, his progress reporter on the entire question of national defense."

Judge Patterson, 49, is a native of Glens Falls, N. Y., and a Stimson, a Republican. After graduation from Union college and Harvard law school he was admitted to the bar in 1915. The next year found him serving on the Mexican border with the national guard.

In the World War he was first a captain and later major in the infantry, winning the distinguished service cross "for extraordinary heroism in action."

He was appointed a federal judge on March 21, 1939.

King Forced Into Air Raid Shelter

Southcoast Port in England—(P)—King George VI was forced to take cover in an air-raid shelter during an inspection of naval training camps today but no bombs were dropped nearby. His party was just leaving one camp when the alarm came.

King George lighted a cigarette and then stroled to a shelter, witnesses said. He remained inside only a few minutes, however, and after a look at the sky ordered the tour continued.

The king had reached the next point on his tour 20 miles away when the raiders passed.

Capistrano Swallows Again Off Schedule

San Juan Capistrano, Calif.—(P)—The swallows of Capistrano have flown off schedule again.

The birds, famous for the regularity of their annual arrival and departure, by century-long tradition desert their homes in the eaves of the old mission here and fly southward each St. John's day, Oct. 23.

Last year they departed Aug. 11. This year, with a flurry of wings and a great last-minute chatter over the nests, they left months ahead of time.

"They disappeared early on the morning of July 16," said father Arthur Hutchinson.

"At first we thought they had gone on some short flight. But we've waited over a week now, and they haven't come back."

France Depending on Germany For Food as Supplies Dwindle

Basel, Switzerland.—(P)—Rapid dwindling of food supplies in that part of France not under Nazi occupation has led even the censored press there to report "the fate of France for months to come is in the hands of the German armistice commission at Wiesbaden, not the government at Vichy."

But those same newspapers hold out hope the Germans soon will permit food supplies to move freely from the occupied to the refugee-swollen unoccupied zone.

Other sources, however, assert the tragedy of this hope is that the German-held areas apparently are very little better off, and soon may be in worse condition, than the southern zone.

Farmers and inhabitants of rural villages have been the first to feel the pinch, rather than residents of big cities and towns.

In Alsace, hand-picked groups of farmers, taken back to their homes by the Germans, still are being fed

Three Killed in Michigan Gas Tank Explosion

Investigators Hunt For Cause of Blast Near Benton Harbor

Benton Harbor, Mich.—(P)—Investigators searched the blackened ruins of resort property today for clues to the cause of an explosion which killed three persons and made shambles of a once cheerful headquarters for vacationists.

Exploding with such great force that one man was flung against the ceiling, a fuel gas tank at the Flor-Ruth farm resort two miles east of here blew apart yesterday afternoon and set fire to the main building.

The dead: Miss Pauline Luban, about 50, of Chicago, a cook; Henry Kading, 36, of Cassopolis, Mich., driver of the supply truck which was feeding gas into the tank at the time of the explosion; Mrs. Clara

Rumania Will Seize Barges, Deliver Oil

Bucharest.—(P)—Rumania was reported tonight to be preparing to requisition 60 British-owned or chartered Danube river barges to increase the flow of oil to Germany.

Official quarters promised the reich full support in the drive to deliver 200,000 tons of oil this month, part of which is expected to be taken from reserves of the British and Dutch owned Astra-Romania company, confiscated yesterday.

Sen. Norris In Attack on Draft Plan

Washington.—(P)—The house military committee heard from the army's general staff today that the cost of compulsory military service would be $1,100,000,000 for the first year of operation and $800,000,000 a year thereafter.

The estimate, by Major George L. Eberle, following a declaration from Chairman May (D-Ky.) that "while I am opposed to war as much as anyone else, I know that the best way to keep out of war is to be prepared for it."

Benjamin Marsh, veteran secretary of the peoples' lobby, and a frequent visitor to congressional hearings, told the committee the pending military service bill was "Hitler's first victory in America."

An objection voiced by Major General Milton A. Reckford of the Maryland National Guard was that "the day may come when congress may not want to use the guard anymore because of the large number of reserves, and may not give us financial support."

Would Amend Bill

He said the bill should be amended to maintain the national guard as an integral part of the service.

Dr. C. S. Longacre, secretary of the Religious Liberty Association of America and a representative of the Seventh Day Adventists, said that in time of war the Adventists would serve in places of danger but would not "shoot to kill."

Exemption from combat service for "conscientious objectors" will be provided, proponents of the legislation have said.

Meanwhile the senate military committee continued its work on details of the training legislation, which would require registration of all men from 18 through 64 years.

Senator Norris (I-Meb.) raised his voice today against compulsory training, saying that it would gradually transform the United States into an "international bully" bent on the destruction of other nations.

The only present member of the senate who voted against the country's entry into the World War, Norris pointed to the third reich of Adolf Hitler as an object lesson of what, in his opinion, would happen to American ideals under peacetime conscription.

"If our young men are to be compelled to spend a goodly portion of every year in a military training camp," he said, "it would have an effect upon their natures."

"If such a program were carried on for 50 years, the rising generation would know no other ideal except that of military force."

Minton Sees Passage

Despite the addition of Norris to a slowly forming opposition bloc, Senator Minton (D-Ind.), Democratic whip, predicted that congress would enact a compulsory service program. Minton is a member of the senate military committee which is working on details of the pending Burke-Wadsworth legislation in hopes of having it ready for debate next week.

"I think," Minton told reporters, "that the people are convinced that emergency requires it."

"We have been advised by both the army and navy that, although their present recruiting programs are on schedule, they cannot build up adequate defense forces rapidly enough by voluntary enlistments."

"It is not a question of actually calling up millions upon millions of men but of getting the nation's manpower registered and creating a reservoir of men who can be trained if it proves necessary."

Charge 'Indecent Haste'

Outside the capitol, the National Council for the Prevention of War joined the opposition with a charge of "indecent haste" in seeking compulsory training. The council urged that the nation have a chance to consider fully a program which it asserted is equivalent to "virtual revolution in our entire outlook."

The senate military committee, which has approved the major provisions of the Burke-Wadsworth training bill, was called into session again today to consider remaining sections.

Members said they might tackle the problem of assuring workers that they would get back their old jobs when they returned from a year's military training. The bill now includes a "declaration of policy."

British Report Says About 300 Officers And Men Feared Dead

Farmhand Acquitted In Poisoning Plot

Kenosha.—(P)—Russell Fields, 22, Kenosha county farmhand charged with the attempted slaying of his parents to gain possession of their farm, was acquitted by Circuit Judge A. L. Drury today.

The court delivered a scathing denunciation of Fields, but said that he did not go far enough to merit conviction under the attempted murder statute.

Fields was arrested March 24 after Louis Shear, a helper on the Fields' farm, told police that Fields had urged him to cooperate in a plot to place poison in his parents' milk and tea.

Keller in Race For Attorney General's Post

Democrats Announce Full Slate of State Office Candidates

Gustave J. Keller, Appleton, president of the Democratic Party Organization of Wisconsin, is the candidate for attorney general on the Democratic slate for state offices announced today by Thomas R. King, Oconomowoc, Wisconsin Democratic campaign manager named by state delegates to the party's national convention. Nomination papers have been placed in circulation for all candidates.

Others for whom papers were circulated, King said, are: William B. Rubin, Milwaukee lawyer, for governor; Marshall Whaling, Milwaukee labor leader, for lieutenant governor; Jay B. Gierum, Kenosha business man, for secretary of state, and John Runge, Jr., Wausau industrialist, for state treasurer.

John Cudahy, ambassador to Belgium, today informed C. E. Broughton, Sheboygan, Democratic national committeeman, that he could not enter the Wisconsin race for United States senator.

Cudahy, a Milwaukeean, was recommended as a Democratic candidate at the party's conference in Green Bay last June 7.

In a cablegram to Broughton, received today, the minister said, "I am deeply and lastingly grateful to you and members of party, but impossible to consider candidacy for senator. Physicians insist upon long rest after experience in Belgium. I am sure you realize why this decision must be final. Best regards to all."

Efforts were made immediately after the Green Bay meeting to get in touch with Cudahy to ascertain whether he would make the race. Early communications apparently were not delivered to him. With the deadline for filing nomination papers approaching, the state department furnished Wisconsin Democrats the information that Cudahy was in Bern, Switzerland. He was contacted July 1. Today's cablegram resulted.

Callahan in Race

Milwaukee—(P)—William R. Callahan of Milwaukee, announced today that he is a candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor.

Callahan said that if elected he would be a "full time governor," adding that "a governor traveling about the country advertising his own product, whether it be a manufactured or a political one, and as a sideline Wisconsin cheese, is not doing the work that the taxpayers are paying him for."

Callahan said "expenditures must be cut" and that the citizens "cannot be asked to give their all for taxes."

He said that he opposes highway fund diversion, favors auto license fee reduction to not more than $7 a car, and consolidation of all purchasing units of the state.

"I promise no more 'kernels,'" his statement said.

"I am also in favor of some sort of legislation whereby political speeches will be limited to not more than 15 minutes. This comes under the head of relief. Relief to the voter from being obliged to listen to hours of political bunk."

Callahan, former Milwaukee city purchasing agent, ran for secretary of state on the Democratic ticket two years ago.

Roberts Candidate for State Treasurer's Job

Milwaukee—(P)—Chester G. Roberts, chairman of the Henry for Governor Club which led the movement for endorsement of Robert K. Henry as the Republican candidate for governor, announced today that he is a candidate for the Republican nomination for state treasurer.

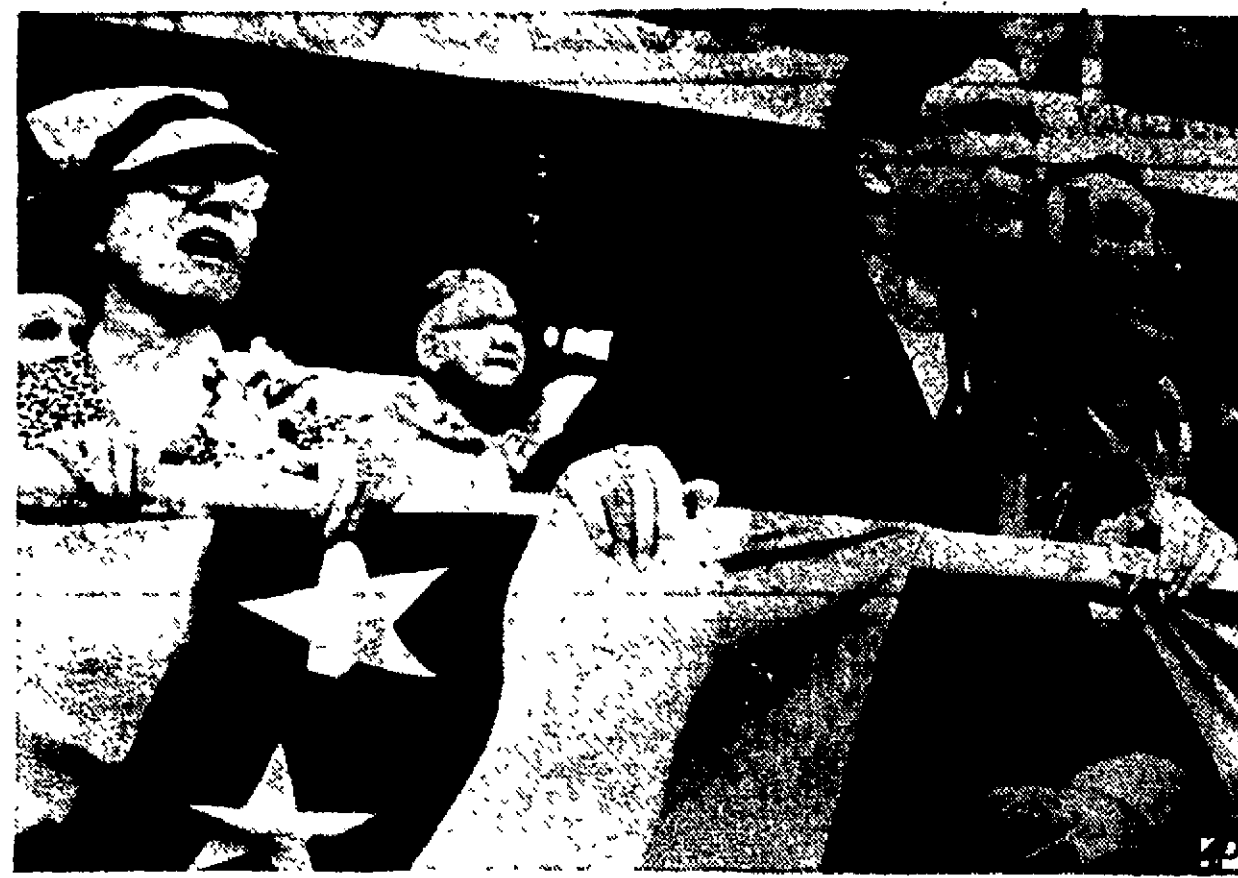

It is now evident that the thousands of Wisconsin Republicans who have been demanding Henry at the head of the Republican ticket will be given no chance to express themselves in the September primary," Roberts said. "I am therefore undertaking my candidacy in the hope that it will contribute to a state ticket which will have an appeal to these thousands. The Republican party must have complete unity if it is to be successful in November."

Roberts is a native Milwaukeean.

G. E. Teter Dies

Milwaukee—(P)—George Eber Teter, 62, head of the English department of Milwaukee State Teachers' college for 19 years, died yesterday at his home here.

Funeral services will be held here Friday, with burial at Madison.

Japan Pushes Program To Dominate East Asia

BY DEWITT MACKENZIE

New York—(P)—Japan's new totalitarian government under the powerful leadership of Prince Konoye as premier has left no manner of doubt that it intends to rush its program of expansion and extend its domination over East Asia while the western powers still are preoccupied with the European war.

As I read the Japanese writing on the wall, Nippon has made up its mind not to allow itself to be stymied further by the prerogatives of the two most powerful western influences in the Orient—America and Great Britain.

It appears to me that Japan intends to go as far as possible in establishing hegemony over Eastern Asia before the battle of Britain ends. Then the western powers—particularly England, with its vast interests in the Orient—will be faced with a fait accompli which will be difficult to upset.

This historic hardening of policy has been advertised in naively open statements by members of cabinet. These officials have indicated that Japan intends to cooperate more fully with the Berlin-Rome axis, and to employ in diplomacy the Hitlerian blitzkrieg methods which they profess to admire.

"Building New Order" Prince Konoye has summed the thing up by saying Japan is "building a new order in East Asia and propelling a change unprecedented in world history." Home and Welfare Minister Wasei has put an exclamation point after the whole disclosure with this:

"We cannot doubt that the day will come when Japan can share the world with Germany and Italy."

Now talkativeness isn't one of the failings of Japanese cabinet ministers. When they do start to talk, and in such strong terms, my inquisitive nature sets me to searching for some hidden meaning. In the present instance I am inclined to believe that this advertising is intended largely as a warning to America and Britain to keep hands off.

Probably Japan does indeed intend closer cooperation with Germany and Italy. But of this I am sure—the last thing that Tokio wants to do is to give Germany a chance to get a strong foothold in the Orient. Certainly Japan has no intention of letting the Nazis or Italians profit by taking over possessions of defeated nations, such as the immensely rich Dutch East Indies and French Indo-China.

May Grab Colonies

If the European war drags on, it wouldn't be surprising to see Japan take control of the colonies mentioned, or even annex them.

While Japanese-axial cooperation is likely to be limited at present, there's no reason to doubt that Tokio intends to adopt Hitler's methods of strong-arm diplomacy.

Japanese Foreign Minister Matsuo-oka tried to establish a fascist party in Japan in 1934 after he had visited Mussolini and come away filled with admiration for it. Said Matsuo-oka:

"There is a man who stalks with God!"

By inadvertently using "stalks" instead of "walks," Matsuo-oka unconsciously made an epigram which has acquired much fame.

All in all, it seems to me that Japan intends to play so far as possible a lone game in enforcing the Asiatic "Monroe doctrine." She apparently believes that effective interference from either America or Britain won't be possible, and plans to proceed on that basis.

The United States must abandon the idea that it can force its economic terms upon Germany or Europe. For trade with South American countries we do not require North American mediation.

"Gold," prophesied Funk, "will cease to be the basis of European currencies."

Board of Appeals to Consider 2 Requests

Board of appeals will meet Aug. 13 to consider two building projects ruled as not conforming with the zoning ordinance by the building inspector.

Interesting Fact About Appleton

The growth of the Appleton post office can best be shown in postal receipts, which last year grossed $224,322.79. In 1900, this figure was $22,922.22.

The Appleton post office delivers an average of 34,000 pieces of mail each day. There are four rural carriers, who deliver 3,950 pieces of mail daily to 1,543 boxholders. The 20 city carriers deliver an average of 21,500 pieces of mail each day. Boxholders and general delivery account for the remaining 8,500.

This amounts to about 10 million pieces a year, weighing more than a million pounds. There are about 190,000 parcels delivered each year, an average of 620 daily.

The post office last year issued 64,766 money orders and cashed 45,689 of them. Postmaster Stephen Balliet heads the staff of 80 employees. In 1901, the post office had 23 employees.

You would be joking if you asked a city letter carrier to go for a walk with you on his day off. The 20 city carriers walk a total of 115 miles a day, an average for each man of more than five miles, but some of the residential carriers walk as many as 12 and 13 miles daily.

The present post office is valued at $249,000, the land costing $64,000 and the building $185,000. It was occupied in July of 1932.

Loomis Attacks Heil's Stand on Oleomargarine

Dodgeville—(P)—Governor Heil's farm record was attacked last night in a series of addresses in LaFayette and Iowa counties by former attorney general O. S. Loomis, of Mauston, who is seeking the Progressive nomination for governor.

"During his (Heil's) administration he has publicly proclaimed in speeches and by his personal acts that he favors repeal of the law taxing oleomargarine and other butter substitutes," Loomis said.

"He wants to remove the only protection the Wisconsin dairy farmer has been able to obtain against this competition."

Report Wife of American Slapped by Japanese

Shanghai—(P)—A belated foreign dispatch said today that the Russian-born wife of an American, C. J. Meyer of Salt Lake City, Utah, was slapped in a scuffle with Japanese plainclothes police at Tsingtao during recent disorders there involving United States sailors and Japanese authorities.

It was reported the Japanese police had been called to deal with a Japanese who allegedly had smashed a large window in Meyer's bar.

The Japanese denied the charge and a scuffle ensued in which Mrs. Meyer was slapped.

War Situation Today

Hitler's Invasion Halted by Air Raids on His Jumping Off Ports

Nazi air bombs fell 12 miles from the outskirts of London today, the German high command reported, while in another daring operation a 50-mile-an-hour Nazi torpedo speedboat bounced 60 miles across the English channel to sink an armed merchant ship near Britain's great naval base at Portland.

Skittering over the rough channel waters to fast for the big long-range guns of the naval base to make it an effective target, the German sea raider got in its knock-out blow on an 18,000-ton craft and darted home again.

The Nazi high command's report of this spectacular feat was quickly countered by Britain's first lord of the admiralty—who declared the craft was the French ship Melnes with nearly 1,300 French officers and men on board—en route home to German-conquered France.

About 1,000 men were saved. The high command said German planes bombed the big British Vickers aircraft factory at Weybridge, just 12 miles from London.

The raids came as Britain claimed victory in the first major phase of the 5-weeks old struggle against the conquest of England—by repeated, violent attacks on German "blitzkrieg bases" across the channel—and at the same time tightened her blockade of the reich.

With more than 1,000 mass air raids, a London spokesman said, the British royal air force now has made it extremely difficult for Germany to organize massed attacks on this country from airbases in Holland, Belgium and France, or from bases the enemy hoped to establish in Norway.

The spokesman said the RAF, although numerically outnumbered by German warplanes, had "to a great extent succeeded in breaking down" Hitler's scheme for a cross-channel invasion of the British Isles and had made new air bases "acquired nearer our shores practically untenable."

The British report, taken at face value, might at least partially explain the mystery of Hitler's delay in launching his long-threatened blitzkrieg on Britain.

Another possible reason was advanced by the London Daily Telegraph. Quoting "the most reliable neutral sources," the newspaper said a serious difference of opinion among Hitler's advisers was holding up the projected invasion.

Hitler's warplanes nevertheless kept up the bombing of the United Kingdom.

Anti-aircraft guns chattered again on the southeast coast and the sky was reported "alive with aircraft" as about 80 German raiders warmed down to attack a merchant convoy in the English channel. British fighting planes quickly sent them fleeing.

While fighting off new Nazi air raids, Britain took steps to plug a blockade leakage of oil shipments through fascist Spain to Germany. Italians also began to feel the pinch of the British blockade as Mussolini's government decreed still another meatless day—making four "vegetarian days" a week—and ordered sharp rationing of bread in restaurants.

The British people's will to victory appeared in a stronger light than ever today when the $13,888,000 budget of Chancellor of the Exchequer Sir Kingsley Wood—based upon the heaviest taxation in British history—was condemned as "timid and inadequate."

With one accord, the London press clamored for "a real war budget," despite the fact that Britons are already paying a 52 1/2 per cent income tax.

The war struck again yesterday at the Holy Land, held under British mandate, with a toll of 46 civilian dead and 88 wounded when ten planes, presumably Italian, dropped 80 to 100 high explosives into the streets and harbors of the port of Haifa.

Both Mrs. Willkie and I, the nominee said, "are grateful for the cordial, spontaneous and overwhelming welcome we have received in this western country."

"We realize—especially being here—how precious is the American way of life. I will do all I can, now and the rest of my life, to preserve the American way."

Willkie had said earlier and repeated later that he had wanted to come to Utah to see the Pioneer day celebration in Salt Lake City and the rodeo in Ogden but that he had another purpose—that of gathering votes.

The candidate said he would "take a week off" next week to work privately on his acceptance address.

Dohr, Unwilling To Support FDR, Seeks GOP Vote

Raymond P. Dohr, who was elected district attorney on the Democratic ticket two years ago, will seek reelection on the Republican ticket this fall, he announced today.

Dohr, who had been circulating nomination papers on both the Republican and Democratic tickets, has filed the Republican nomination papers.

In a letter to Gustave J. Keller, Outagamie county Democratic chairman, Dohr states:

"I cannot conscientiously support the nominees of the Democratic convention. I have expressed myself on several occasions against the third term for president of any man, no matter how great the necessity."

To shatter the third term tradition is to disregard an unwritten law of our country... I have wrestled long with this problem of leaving the Democratic party, but I have come to the only conclusion possible, and that is that my al-

Fishermen are Warned About Net Regulations

Madison—(P)—A spokesman for the conservation commission warned commercial fishermen of Two Rivers and other Lake Michigan ports today against misinterpretation of a recent modification of an order changing the legal size of net mesh.

Commenting on a report that Two Rivers fishermen were making preparations with their old nets, Colonel A. H. Smith, commission counsel, advised them to "go slow" if they planned to drop the nets on their old fishing grounds.

The waters affected under the gill net modification, signed by Governor Heil on July 10 and effective July 26, include only the southern part of Green Bay, Smith said.

Crew of 93 Puts Down 1½ Miles of Rails a Day

If the ghost of Adam Smith, first economist to advocate widespread division of labor, were to appear in Appleton these days, undoubtedly it would spend its time along the Chicago and Northwestern railway tracks.

For there 93 workers, from E. K. Pearson, field gang foreman, to the popular water boy forever balancing himself with a pail at each side, carry Smith's theories to an advanced stage. Stretched over a quarter of a mile, every man to his assigned job, old track disappears and new is laid without a pause by the caravan. Over ordinary stretches, crossings and switches the gang reels off its mile and a half per day.

On July 13 the crew began relaying the stretch between Neenah and Appleton. It will finish here, about a mile west of the Appleton street station.

New rails weighing 112 pounds to the yard and costing $37.50, are replacing old ones weighing 100 pounds. The new track, with less frequent joinings because of a 6-foot increase in length, will make for better riding conditions, Pearson explained.

Here's the Scene

If a spectator stood in advance of the approaching crew he would observe the following actions:

The first contingent dismantles as much as possible by hand, followed by the acetylene torch group which burns bolts off the spikes. Then automatic spike pulling machines grip the heads and very ungentle yank them out. After the spikes are out a man removes the plates, with another worker putting plugs in the spike holes. Another snips the plugs off level with the tie, another brushes the space with tar and the plates are put back.

Oil Products Trip Pure Milks

John Soffa's Single Starts Series of Runs To Win Softball Game

New London—Bunching four hits in one big third inning the Pure Oil Products trimmed the Pure Milk Products 8 to 3 in a second half game last night. The tilt was called after the sixth inning because of darkness. Both teams are still tied for the first ball title.

Nader pitched six scattered hits and Dukes Herres seven but the Pure Milks were lax on ball handling. In the third, leading 1 to 0, the Oils got two men on bases through errors and Herres filled the bases with a walk. The runners began the race across home plate when John Soffa singled and Maurice McDermott and Ken Svedy doubled. Ted Ebert singled to score the last and end the rally. His triple also scored the first run in the second inning.

The Milks tallied once in the third and twice in the fifth but only three men faced Nader in the fourth and sixth frames.

Next Monday's game between the Hashouse and Pure Oils will be postponed. It may be played Aug. 2. No satisfactory date has been arranged yet for the first half play-off between the Milks and Oils. It is planned tentatively in two weeks.

Next Wednesday's game will have the Milks against Miller High Lites.

Attendance at Hatten Pool Is Best on Record

New London — Four-year attendance records at the Hatten, park pool were broken during the recent heat wave, according to R. M. Shortell, city recreation director. The top attendance was 359 on the first day of the big heat, last Friday. Paid attendance of 163 on that day also established a new all-time record. Bathers at the pool have numbered only slightly below those marks each day since.

The previous high mark in attendance was July 14, 1939, when there were 341. Top mark of 338 was reached Aug. 31, 1937, the first year of operation. The most in 1938 was 296 on Aug. 1.

For the younger children are "The Wild Pasture," about a little girl who ran away from home; "Sally Does It," the story of three small children. Four story picture books are "The Goat That Went to School," "Mother Makes Christmas," "Oscar, the Trained Seal," "The King and the Princess." For the youngest readers are "Dog Cantabark," "More About Copy-Kitten" and "Buttons and Bo."

Surplus School Seats To Be Offered for Sale

Waupaca—Seventy sets of seats, all new and similar to those used in the new elementary building, were discovered stored in the basement of that building when Superintendent George W. Hendrickson was making an inventory of that building's equipment this spring. They are now being offered for sale to parents, Sunday schools and rural schools.

The sets, purchased at $8 each, are in excess of current school needs, according to statement of a member of the board of education. Their existence was unknown to school board members until Mr. Hendrickson's checkup of school equipment. Former Superintendent L. M. Emans, now located at Madison, was asked about the materials and

The World of STAMPS

If anybody is working faster than the map-makers these days, it must be the fellows who get out the new stamps. Stamp dealers predict that 1940 will pass the 2,000 issue mark as did 1939 and 1938.

Although the war held up arrival of many new stamps in this country, dealers report that approximately 1,000 have been received in the United States. That doesn't count the German stamps which reportedly will be used in the occupied countries of Norway, Belgium and Holland, but does include those being used in Poland. Nor does it include the new British colonial sets promised for Gilbert and Ellice Islands and the British Solomon Islands, nor Australia's commemorative set for the 100th anniversary of the settlement of Queensland.

Nearly 300 commemoratives are among the new 1940 stamps, with the addition of Rumania's. That country has issued not only old values of regular issues in different colors but also has four new sets. A recent old one in new crimson dress is the "5 Lei Post" bearing the head of King Carol. The four latest Rumanian issues include a set to raise navy funds, a set commemorating the ascent to the throne of Carol II, ten years ago, a series for the Balkan entente and the annual series commemorating the assembly of the national youth organization at Bucharest. In the royal set only the 8-Leu has the royal name inscribed on it. Three of that set are semi-postals.

Many New York World Fair commemoratives this year are last year's issues with overprints. Iceland resorted to overprinting to bring her set of four up to date. She stamped 1940 on the 1939 stamps. Two of the issue picture a statue of Karlsefni, a familiar figure on Iceland stamps. One has a drawing of the trylon and perisphere and another has a symbolic scene of the discovery of America.

Iceland is about as big as Kentucky and it is just 150 miles from Greenland in the North Atlantic. In 1930, the country celebrated the 1,000th anniversary of the Althing—the oldest parliamentary assembly in the world. In 1940 Iceland declared its independence after Denmark fell to Hitler. Until then Christian X of Denmark also was king of Iceland.

Chilton Resident to Visit in N. Dakota

Hilbert — Mrs. Edna Chart, of Chilton, who has been visiting her daughter Mrs. Vernon Schomberg for the last week, left Wednesday evening for Centerville, N. Da., to visit her aunt, Mrs. Anna Tice, for two weeks.

Mrs. William Murray left Hilbert Monday afternoon for New Richmond, Wis., to spend several days with Mr. Murray, who has accepted the position of operator and depot agent at the Soo Line depot of that city.

Members of the Christian Mothers' organization of St. Mary's Catholic church will entertain Monday evening at a lawn party on the church lawn. The Hilbert City band will offer its regular concert that evening on the church lawn.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Laughlin of Milwaukee arrived here this week and are spending a two weeks vacation at the home of the latter's parents, Dr. and Mrs. F. A. Holtz.

Mrs. James Strong and sons, Gerald, Kenneth and Wallace, Mrs. Hillard Weber of Hilbert and Mrs. William Leveknecht of Kimberly are spending this week camping at Ontonagon, Mich.

stated that they were a part of the original seating order, that the board agreed to order enough seating for 40 pupils per room. This was thought to be enough to take care of future expansion. The material, Mr. Emans pointed out, was part of the general equipment order of which the federal government paid 40 per cent.

Phil Is Mum on New Deal Ticket

Will Have 'Something To Say' Regarding State Politics Soon

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
Madison—Former Governor Philip F. LaFollette, sponsor of the National Progressives of America as a third party, is refusing to comment on the renomination of President Roosevelt and the selection of Secretary Wallace by the National Democratic party as a candidate for vice president.

LaFollette said that he would reserve his observations for two or three weeks, probably until after the Republican nominee, Wendell L. Willkie, make a formal acceptance sometime next month.

The Progressive party leader launched a series of national broadcast speeches just before the Philadelphia convention of the Republicans, and continuing up to the eve of the Chicago convention of the Democrats, all of them appealing for popular support of a new national political party necessitated by the failures of the old parties.

Big Question
In the 1932 and 1936 presidential elections, the LaFollettes led their followers to support of the Roosevelt candidacy. A big question in Progressive politics in Wisconsin today, in view of Phil's third party arguments in the last two years, is the attitude of the brother team on Roosevelt's third term candidacy.

LaFollette also remarked that he "would have something to say" on Wisconsin politics in about 10 days. Thus far he has not participated in the current state campaign, although he has said that he will take the stump in the interests of Senator LaFollette, a candidate for reelection, and who will be kept in Washington during most of the summer unless congress adjourns.

The former governor said that he has been highly pleased with the popular response to his recent speeches advocating a new national political party. Letters have come to headquarters here from all states in the union, most of them expressing approval, he said.

Hayton Carpenter Fractures Thigh

Chilton—Casper Ruppel, a carpenter about 60 years old, living at Hayton, three miles east of Chilton, was injured Wednesday afternoon while at work on the residence of Dr. C. J. O'Donnell in this city now under construction. Mr. Ruppel was about to go down a ladder to the basement when he fell to the basement cement floor suffering a fractured left thigh and a badly bruised head. He was taken to the office of a local doctor for treatment and was then conveyed to his home in an ambulance. His condition is fair.

The Sunday Evening Five Hundred club held its annual picnic at Columbia park Sunday. They enjoyed a brautwurst roast and played cards.

Mrs. Hugo Wettstein and children, Gerald and Dona, who accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Anton Meyer of Clintonville, have returned from a trip to the east coast where they visited Mr. and Mrs. George Druein and family, at Norfolk, Va. Mrs. Druein is a daughter of the Meyers and a sister of Mrs. Wettstein. Mr. Druein, employed in the United States navy is at present stationed on the U. S. S. Yukon from Norfolk to Puerto Rico.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. F. Stauss and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Valdebeck of Milwaukee returned from a two weeks trip to the Smoky Mountains and the Mammoth Cave. They also visited many places of interest along their line of travel.

Refugee Children Should be Passengers on New Steamship
BY RAYMOND CLAFFE
Washington—The other day I noticed a heart-rending newspaper advertisement. It was headed, "Merry ships for children." The advertisement, sponsored by a group of American women, pleaded that American ships be sent to rescue the children of England from the destruction which threatens the island.

Details of the advertisement are such as to bring tears from the eyes of General Hugh Johnson's brass Buddha. It is stated that the dominions undersecretary told the house of commons that the British government had received applications for evacuation from England of about 200,000 children whose parents wish to spare them the horrors of the expected total war. But Clement R. Attlee, speaking for the prime minister, told commons that the government had been compelled to suspend the evacuation plan because the British navy found it impossible to provide the necessary convoy for the Atlantic crossing.

Then the advertisement suggests that only the United States can relieve this situation by sending mercy rescue ships, on the same basis of immunity that is given to Red Cross supply ships. But the new ships to go into the combat zones to carry medical supplies, food and clothing on missions of mercy. But the law would have to be changed to permit American ships to go into combat zones to bring out children on missions of mercy.

There is no difference in the spirit of the two missions. The only reason the law was not framed originally to permit such a children's rescue probably was that nobody happened to foresee the present situation.

In the same newspaper I notice another advertisement. This announces that a new American steamship, the America, is to make her maiden commercial voyage Aug. 10. This ship was built largely with government funds. She is announced as the newest, largest and finest ocean liner ever built in the United States. She is described as a vessel of luxurious comfort, with eight great decks for relaxation and play, a swimming pool, a stunning night club, perfect cuisine in air-conditioned dining rooms.

Ship's European Schedule Impossible Because of War
Owing to unfortunate world conditions, the S S America will cruise between the American mainland and the Virgin Islands, Puerto Rico, Haiti and Cuba—probably half empty most of the time, for she was built with heavy European travel in mind. Certainly she is likely to be a losing proposition for a while by having to operate on such a restricted route.

The America is ready to put to sea now. She will make her first cruise to New York with an official party aboard next Saturday. One could not read those two advertisements without thinking first of the 100,000 children of England waiting for ships to carry them out of danger and then of this new American ocean liner with nothing but time on its hands.

Why not paint the American flag on her sides, paint the Red Cross on her sides, light her at night, allow the German consulate in New York to make searches to insure that she is not loaded with munitions, and send her over to England to fetch these children? The law could be changed quickly to permit it.

But, you say, Hitler would sink her with all those children aboard and then we would be in the war. First—Hitler is no fool. He isn't dragging us into this war right now if he can help it.

Second—I am authoritatively informed that the British government has good reason to believe that if the United States made an official request of the German government, and provided the guarantees that Hitler would naturally expect against misuse of the occasion, a pledge of safe conduct would be forthcoming from the German government.

Why not try it?

Wisconsin's Error

About a generation ago our state went into the insurance business. Its policies haven't been very popular but it has insured public buildings in about thirty counties.

In order to carry on this business, reserves, in addition to cash funds, are just as essential as to ordinary insurance companies.

And now the critical examination made of previous administrations by the Heil regime reveals that a large share of the insurance reserve has been "invested" in building a state office annex and a hospital for the University, neither of which "investments" yields a nickel of revenue.

This criticism is materially different from the one aimed at the conservation department. There the law was abruptly snapped to the advantage or pleasure of the involved employees. Here there was no wanton intention. But the business error was even more hurtful to the taxpayers than the purposeful theft of land from the conservation department.

Insurance reserves are created in pursuance to rules formulated by heartless and unforgiving experience. The money or the investment must be on hand. If private companies put funds into non-productive monuments as Wisconsin has done they would be booted over the borders of the state.

Down the roadway trouble for the taxpayer is certain. He must make up the shortage. The case is comparable somewhat to the error of fraternal insurance companies fifty years ago that succeeded in getting a vast amount of business by cutting rates below those average figures which the death records gave as the expectancy of life. All went well for a time. But when the younger generation that had been insured reached the Dark River in great numbers the rates had to be doubled and many who had carried their insurance for nearly a lifetime had to abandon it when needed most.

Thus we see the government in business. Groups always want money. Some always have a good idea. But in a democracy the people should have something to say and not be continually worked with skin games.

Where can we get the money, say the men in political life. Someone tells them the insurance reserve has six hundred thousand dollars in good bonds. Eureka! And the thing is done. When losses occur, when the cash is depleted, when the reserves become necessary to pay losses, who will buy the hospital or the state office building? Probably the tax will then be raised the way it should have been in the first place. The good nature of the people will be twisted by an appeal to pay "a debt of honor."

This system is also somewhat parallel to Washington's method of spending the billions raised for social security. Ten or twenty years hence when a heavy percentage have reached the retirement age and money is needed to pay them their old age income it will have to be raised by taxation upon the general public, a little more for bread, a little more for beer and a little more for the suit of clothes.

And the strange part is that the worker who has already had his pay docked to build up these reserves, that have already been used, will actually have to contribute in increased taxes to the very fund used to pay his pension supposedly already set aside.

Senator LaFollette At Green Bay

In his Green Bay address Senator LaFollette said he would vote every last dollar to defend the Western World from any alien encroachment, but that he would never consent to send American armed forces into the Asian or European battle areas.

But we must remain practical men. The exposition of even a splendid doctrine gains little for the people if the machinery of government is actually put in the hands of those bent upon, or committed to, involving us by actual participation in the battle areas.

That Mr. Roosevelt is determined upon launching America into the war is the conviction of many who have closely scanned his acts and utterances. Mr. LaFollette is but one of many in the congress endowed with authority to declare war. But Mr. Roosevelt is alone in exercising the constitutional right to direct our foreign affairs. According to the Hague convention, to which we are a signatory, we have already joined the war due to Mr. Roosevelt's exercise of certain authority conferred upon him by congress in relation to the transfer of airplanes. It is possible for a President to so commit the country to a certain course that congress will feel itself driven to continue that course by declaring war.

At least that has happened before

Undaunted England

If one passes over the deeper currents of this war and rivets his attention upon the surface he is bound to be moved to admiration by British hardihood in the acceptance of war as recently announced by Lord Halifax.

For the menace of Hitler can no longer be treated anywhere as a mere bluff or idle threat. The German War Lord has available an almost inexhaustible supply of shock troops, trained to land on beaches whether from airplanes or swiftly propelled sea-scows. The utter recklessness and valor of the German troops is beyond denial. The stukes or dive bombers have established an unique record for themselves. Attacks may come from almost any point of the compass on the east. They may be aimed at a hundred available or suitable beaches, or loosened from the air at scores of inland points. Whoever secures final victory the immediate consequences to the English are certain to be bloody and fearful.

And while the stoutheartedness of the English must not be lost sight of for a moment neither should we forget that in its effort to destroy the spread of German power England has the Fuehrer at a greater disadvantage in situation than the Fuehrer has been in to date. It was simple to take Denmark. Crossing a flat country was the only requirement. It was far easier for Germany to fight in Norway than it was for England. And it was simpler, and actually safer, despite some great obstructions, for Berlin to send an army into Belgium and France than it was for England.

But now the odds are changed, and changed heavily. The Nazis realize the fact fully. Even with all the German valor and preparation, their superiority in the air and with their tanks, their man power and numerous ports, the chances for catastrophe, stunning defeat and loss of prestige at home and abroad are overwhelming.

England has prepared the trap. She has reckoned carefully upon all possible consequences. She knows that the chances in her favor are so high they are one sided. Her waters are carefully mined. Her great and extensive fleet will rip the German transports into splinters. Her air armada will add terror to the devastation. Drowning will cause more casualties among the Germans than shot and shell. And the season to act is very short. In only two months heavy fogs will move all over the channel and the British Isles from Scapa Flow to Plymouth and they will spread more havoc with the Germans in the air than all the anti-aircraft guns on land. Even now, occasionally, these wet and misty defenders move in and cloak England like a smoke screen.

The English are heartened by their history. It was in 1588 that the proud Spanish Armada with its 130 warships manned by 25,000 seasoned veterans of the sea, struck at England to subdue her haughty power. But storm and tides scattered those who were left from the British attack, and England emerged from that awful threat as admitted mistress of the tides. Unquestionably many Englishmen welcome the Hitler attack upon their island, perfectly willing to face the hazard that exists for the big chance of supremacy that may arise with the Germans beating a bedraggled appearance back to the continent.

And the Englishman, too intelligent and too educated to take more than a few stinging swigs out of the Blum bottle, is still a fighting man par excellence.

The Bitter With the Sweet

Canadian protests against the Saturday Evening Post because of a story entitled "Wings of Atonement" is the customary outburst against an honest magazine because it is honest.

The description in the same issue of Hitler's destruction of the "House of Ullstein" will strengthen the arms of free men everywhere against autocracy.

"Wings of Atonement" is a story that should be of value to Canada although it takes to task and lashes rather stingingly the English handling of strictly English problems. It is written of a veteran of World War No. 1 who might have made safer surroundings for his son than the latter discovered in the equipment furnished him to fight the Germans in Norway. The son was slain and the father lived alone his empty life.

The notion that criticism, honestly and obviously due, will hurt the morale of the people is fantastic. It is a weak people who can not bear to look at their own blunders.

But the story of the "House of Ullstein" together with the "Wings of Atonement" should make a double tonic for the preservation of democracy, the right kind of democracy, the realistic democracy of foresight and muscle, sweat and effort.

The DAILY WASHINGTON MERRY GO ROUND

BY DREW PEARSON AND ROBERT S. ALLEN
Washington—Not many people know it, but Andrew Mellon's Aluminum Corporation of America was one of the U. S. concerns cooperating with Germany to maintain high prices on certain raw materials necessary for national defense.

The Aluminum corporation controlled the supply of magnesium for the United States. This metal is used as an alloy in substitute for aluminum in the manufacture of airplane parts. It is absolutely essential to the airplane industry. Yet the Magnesium Development company, jointly owned by the Aluminum Corporation of America and the I. G. Farbenindustrie of Germany, has enjoyed virtually a world monopoly of this metal.

The I. G. Farbenindustrie, of course, is now completely nazified and dominated by the German government.

Under the joint control, Mr. Mellon's company in the United States agreed to produce only 2,000 tons of magnesium a year, while Mr. Hitler's company in Germany produced 10,000 tons annually. As a result, prices were high. Not long ago, the department of justice began to probe the monopoly holdings of raw materials and the degree of cooperation existing between American firms and German. Details of this probe were published in The Washington Merry-Go-Round.

The other day, John W. Davis, attorney for the Aluminum Corporation of America, came in to see Assistant Attorney General Thurman Arnold, who has done more to reduce prices than any other man in America, and promised him the full cooperation of his client. He said the Aluminum corporation would be glad to produce magnesium for national defense purposes, and cooperate in every other way possible.

MOTHER KNOWS BEST

The morning after the Democratic convention nominated the President for a third term, Jim Farley called up his young son, Jimmy, at a camp in New Hampshire.

"How'd you, champ," he greeted the boy.

"Hi, dad, how did you make out last night?"

"I got licked."

"Well," was the comforting reply, "that will please mother."

Note—Jolly Mrs. Farley intensely dislikes Washington, long has wanted her husband to quit politics.

It didn't leak out at the time, but things got pretty hot for Elliott Roosevelt during the turbulent battle over Henry Wallace on the last night of the Chicago convention.

Although his father had declared for Wallace as vice presidential nominee, Elliott raged about the convention floor rooting for Speaker Bankhead.

In the course of his operations, Elliott told members of the Mississippi delegation that his father had personally informed him that while he favored Wallace, Bankhead and McNutt also were acceptable.

Thereof the thing to do, Elliott declared, was to work out a compromise; and Bankhead was his choice.

Coming from the second son of the president, the Mississippi delegates naturally considered the information straight from the White House and spread the word. When it reached worried administration floor leaders they rushed to Senator Jimmy Byrnes, who, from the rostrum, was directing Wallace's fight, Jimmy dashed for a nearby phone and told the president what had happened.

Roosevelt's reply was that he hadn't talked to Elliott in over a month, so naturally could not have told him what he claimed.

"I am for Wallace and no one else," Roosevelt added. "Further, you have my authority to state that if he is not nominated, I won't run."

After Byrnes transmitted this message to the Texas delegation, Elliott piped down.

Note—When Wallace, at 2 a. m., immediately after his hard-won victory, telephoned the president and thanked him, Roosevelt advised that he immediately see Bankhead, Farley, Jesse Jones and McNutt and thank them for their sportsmanship. The president personally telephoned McNutt and commended him as a "gallant soldier who performed a great public service tonight."

The new Republican members of Roosevelt's cabinet, Secretaries Stimson and Knox, are peas-in-a-pod to senate isolationists, but they are poles apart with capital newsmen.

Stimson, 72, grave and intense, has no time for such fol-de-rol as pictures and cameras. As secretary of state under Hoover he used to brush photographers aside with a pre-occupied "too busy" and he does the same now.

They almost had to "talk their heads off" to get him to pose after his recent confirmation as secretary of war. Finally he consented, with the reservation that there was to be no sound.

"But, Mr. Secretary," the boys wailed, "a newsreel is a flop without sound."

"No sound," reiterated Stimson firmly, and there was no sound.

Colonel Knox, 66, who has published newspapers all his life, is a different story. He knows the problems the photographers face and goes out of his way to help them. After his confirmation he spent an hour patiently posing and talking for the reels. Also, he was keenly interested in the results.

Running into one of the cameramen at the White House several days later, the secretary of the navy inquired, "How'd those pictures turn out? Let me know when they come to town."

A Bystander In Washington

BY JACK STINNETT

Washington—Add now-it-can-be-told stories on the Chicago convention:

The number of times the Roosevelt boom failed to spark in those first few days of the convention was something that will haunt his managers in their night-mares for years to come—but it shouldn't.

Let's start off with this: at the outset, the third-term leaders claimed 900 delegates. The only question was when and how to start the stampede to give it all the necessary fire and drama.

The first big demonstration planned was when Mayor Edward J. Kelly of Chicago made his address. The mayor got in his build-up for a big demonstration and what happened? Nothing.

Why? Because all those hundreds who were supposed to be in the galleries to start the tornado of cheers hadn't been able to get tickets. The tickets were in the hands of the national committee, which was spelled James A. Farley. And, as Farley said over and over again, he was not going to permit any third-term stampede.

Dear Alben On Spot

The second dud missed fire that Tuesday night when Senator "Dear Alben" Barkley passed along the president's pronouncement. The demonstration was terrific. A few of the most ardent supporters felt the time was ripe for suspending the rules, nominating Roosevelt 48 hours ahead of schedule. Florida's Senator Pepper was going to offer the resolution. And this time it was "Dear Alben" himself who put a stop to it.

Why? Because, anti-third-termers pulled a fast one. Warned of what was happening, they notified Senator Pepper's resolution, they would make a motion to adjourn. A motion to adjourn, under convention rules, has right of way, is not debatable, is subject to roll call. What would have happened? The demonstration would have gone dead.

FDR Has Fun

If Roosevelt hadn't been a president, he could have been an actor or a playwright. His sense of dramatic timing would have carried him to the top in the theater even faster than it put him on top in politics.

It was one of the boys who stayed behind in the capital who told me how FDR, that sultry Tuesday afternoon when the convention was floundering, had decided to let 'em have a shot in the arm, so to speak.

He greeted his press conference in shirt sleeves, cigar holder pointing to the skies. Some one said "all in"—the signal for the press conference to start.

Before any of the eager scribes could get in a word, the president started reading that seven-page report of the activities of the national defense commission. He read slowly those seven closely packed pages. There wasn't a scribe who wasn't squirming with deferred anticipation.

Came the end. A question was asked and he let 'em have it. BANG! Two years or so of silence on the THIRD TERM, through more than 20 press conferences, was to be broken at last. Then came "Thank you, Mr. Roosevelt," which is the sign for the press conference to break up. It's a wonder somebody wasn't killed in that rush for telephones.

Those who could lag behind heard the president laughing uproariously, pounding the arm of his chair with his hand.

In theatrical circles, they would call him the greatest trouper ever to have lived at 1600 Pennsylvania avenue. And what performer could help being delighted when his performance came off like that?

Just a Step Behind the News

By Dave Bonne

That idea of Uncle Sam, with the help of the South American countries, being a trustee of any foreign possessions which Hitler or any other conqueror may want in a hemisphere is pretty, but full of dynamite, if you ask me. The idea is that we'll act as joint trustees of possessions belonging to any nation conquered by Germany. Well, all I hope is that Uncle Sam will be able to locate the other trustees when trouble comes.

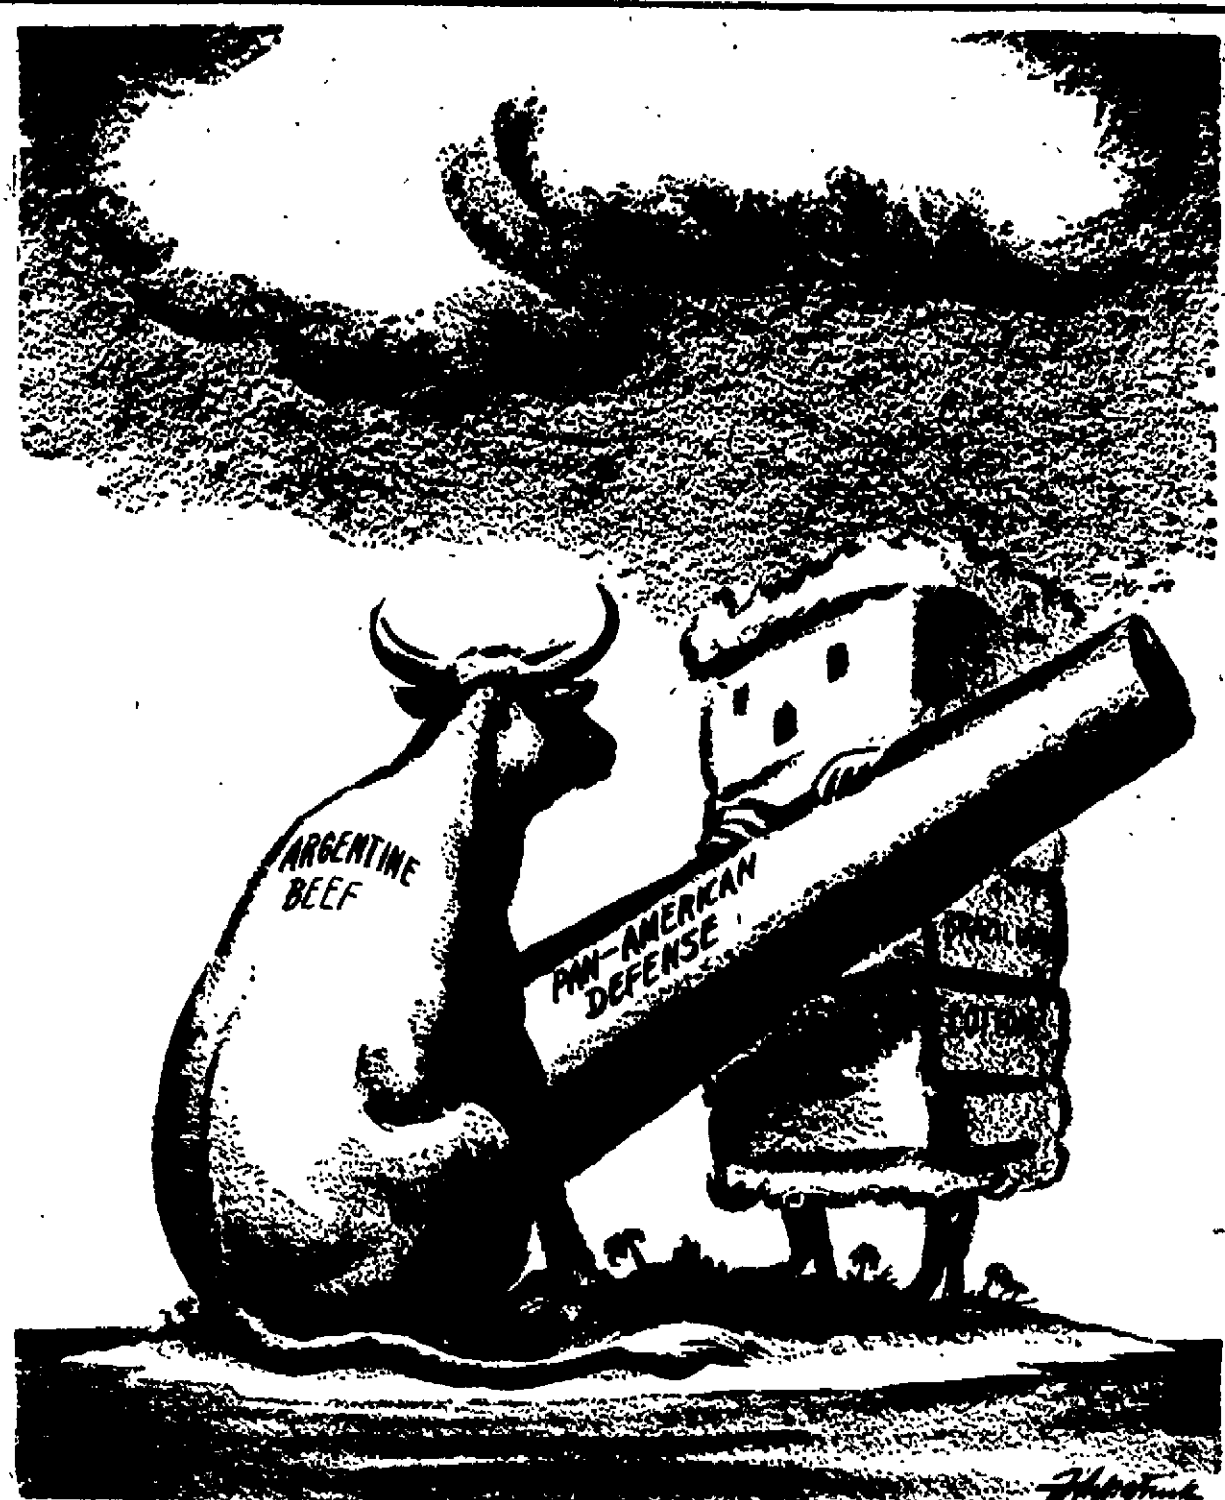

The Havana conference won't be a complete success unless Uncle Sam arranges for a board of trustees to watch the trustees. The danger is that in a pinch Uncle Sam may have to use a mirror to establish a quorum.

I see Marshal Petain's government has ordered mass trials of Daladier, Mandel and a lot of other former French leaders to fix the blame for the war. There's a big supply of blame to be distributed, and the nazis will see that it is distributed their way.

Under the CAPTOL DOME

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

Madison—It is becoming evident that the Heil administration is going to be forced to defend itself against the charge of being antagonistic to conservation.

As the criticism is now being developed by the governor's most voluble opponents, opposition to conservation means lack of the policies and activities of the state conservation department.

Wyngaard

It is true that the Heil administration can count in its record no positive advances in the state conservation program. However, no other administration in the last ten years has done anything spectacular in promoting conservation either. The basic Wisconsin conservation program, the preservation and propagation of the forests and wildlife, was laid down more than a decade ago and has moved forward, without special support or hindrance from any governor since that time.

The charge against Heil will grow out of the Frey investigation of the conservation department. Some of Frey's enemies are as biased and distraught as they accuse him of being as he grills conservation department officers on their pet projects and theories.

Because Frey has put conservation department officers on the stand under oath and asked them to tell about some of their transactions as state agents, and because he has publicly expressed disapproval in a characteristically caustic fashion, Frey is being pictured as the man who would undermine long-time conservation programs and policies. Yet Frey pursued exactly the same methods some months back—and for those concerned his comments might have seemed even more biting and violent—when he was looking into the somewhat complicated affairs of the state highway commission.

But at that time no one called him an enemy of public highways or the good roads movement.

As compared with the fuss which has been inspired about the conservation department hearings, the highway investigation was practically ignored. What comment was occasioned was generally laudatory.

The point is that the conservation department is supported by an intensely loyal, close knit, single minded organization—it might be called a machine—which can be put into motion against any effort to impede or criticism the department or its personnel. The men who are best informed on the power of that organization are the candidates for office. It is worthy to note that two points which are most points in every candidate's platform are declarations for pensions and in favor of a conservation program.

That organization commands the editorial policy of the state's biggest newspaper, reaches into hundreds of homes in every county. In short it cannot be tampered with lightly.

Thus it is conceivable that its whole-hearted opposition to any state government administration may have some effect in determining the policies of that administration. It is therefore significant that the bitter resentment recently exhibited toward Frey from conservation organization sources coincides with a feeling in the capital as detected by Capitol newspapermen that the executive office is not too anxious to continue Frey's work in investigating the conservation department.

Probably Heil administration men will be annoyed at such an inference. It remains a fact, however, that the governor himself has been

Personal Health Talks

BY WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.
Noted Physician and Author

MINOR SYMPTOMS

Medical science up to the present era has been based on normal and morbid or pathological anatomy, the structure of body tissues and organs and the changes in structure which the physician finds in his examination.

Modern medical science takes into consideration not only the signs observed by the medical examiner but also the symptoms of which the patient complains. The practice of medicine today requires at least a practical working knowledge of physiology and of chemistry.

Long before definite structural changes can be recognized by the physician, changes in function (physiology) and in composition of the body tissues and secretions occur, in the course of disease. It is this earlier change in physiology or chemistry that gives rise to the symptom, the complaint of the individual affected. Much later, when the disease becomes fully developed or "advanced," as the old timers expressed it, the anatomical or structural change occurs, and this gives rise to the signs elicited by the physician's examination regardless of the complaint of the individual affected.

The all too familiar distinction to the old timers drew between "functional" and "organic" disease has gone out of fashion in medical ranks, but the notion still prevails in the popular fancy and dangerously accounts for a good deal of danger or fatal procrastination and self-doctoring on the part of individuals in the incipient or functional stage of disease.

Beriberi (Singshaese for extreme weakness), also known as multiple neuritis, is rare in America, common in the Orient, and the cause of the disease is extreme deprivation of vitamin B, (thiamin). Pellagra (Italian for rough skin) is common in parts of Italy and other European countries, and in the poorer sections of the South, but rare in the northern part of the United States. It is still uncertain whether pellagra is caused by extreme deprivation of vitamin B, (G. ribo-flavin) alone or of nicotinic acid (another entity of the B complex) alone or of deprivation of these and perhaps still other entities of the B complex (such as B6 or antidermatitis factor and the "filtrate factor" and even B1).

Altho these fully developed deficiency diseases are not common in this country, it is now well recognized by competent authorities and well informed physicians that mild cases of these and other deficiency diseases are among the most frequent troubles of which people in all walks of life complain. For example most everyday cases of "stomach trouble," constipation, "neuritis," colon derangement (too often tagged "mucous colitis"), anemia, "poor circulation," weak heart and "neurasthenia" are probably due to deficiency in daily vitamin intake. Generally the deficiency is not of any one vitamin but of several, especially vitamin B complex, vitamin A and vitamin D.

Diagnosis of these milder nutritional deficiencies is as yet chiefly a matter of the judgment of the physician. The confirmation of the exceedingly chary of comment on Frey's work lately, and the governor is not given to reticence. Moreover, it is known that Frey is currently waiting—after an interim of more than three weeks since the last hearings—for a signal from his chief to continue. It is known too that some Republican legislators have complained to the governor about the conservation investigation.

Although it would be highly embarrassing for Frey to drop his investigation in the middle, that eventually is distinctly possible today.

diagnosis is the therapeutic test, that is, supplementing the patient's diet with the vitamins which are needed. In any case, even if the therapeutic test fails to confirm the diagnosis, no harm is done. Indeed the patient experiences some benefit in health as a rule.

We are waiting to hear what that trouble was that had you worried when you were writing the article "The First Drink Is the Worst." We hope it did not amount to much. Don't know what we'd do without the daily pleasure of reading Dr. Brady's column. (R.F.A.)

Answer—Thank you. No, the trouble didn't amount to much. A little boy we love dearly suffered a bite on the face. A medical colleague who heard about it urged me to give the boy Pasteur treatment. My colleague had seen several cases in which she was sure were rabies in children. I just worried, and then forgot it. Everything is all right now. I still do not believe rabies happens in man. This is only my opinion. Nobody KNOWS, because nobody has found the cause of rabies in animals and nobody has proved scientifically that the disease in animals, whatever it may be, can be transmitted to man. My advice to any one bitten by a dog is to have medical treatment as soon as possible and leave it entirely to the physician to decide whether Pasteur or other treatment is best.

Hay Fever
Deeply grateful for your advice on hay fever. Have been following the instructions in monograph on "Allergy" and the relief has been remarkable. I'll never again be without soluble KCI during hay fever time. Is it all right to dissolve the tablet in orange juice instead of water? I'm such a baby about taking medicine.

(Mrs. W. A.)
Answer—Yes. On request of readers who enclose stamped addressed envelope I am glad to mail monographs on "Hay Fever" and "Relief for Allergy."

Dr. Brady will answer all signed letters pertaining to health. Writer's names are never printed. Only inquiries of general interest will be answered by mail if written in ink and a stamped, self-addressed envelope is enclosed. ## Lawrence Says Business Wants New Deal Defeat

Claims Administration
Compares Favorably
With German System

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington — Many persons in the New Deal have expressed wonderment from time to time at the bitterness of feeling and resentment which has swept the business elements of the country against President Roosevelt and his administration. During the last 48 hours the dispatches tell of criminal indictments filed against 33 executives of 26 tobacco companies. Here is a conspicuous example which illustrates how the powers of government are simply not being used fairly between citizens. It reveals why it is so often charged nowadays that the slogan on top of the supreme court building "equal justice for all" is no longer respected.

The department of justice has an anti-trust division which is properly active in trying to enforce the Sherman Anti-Trust law so as to prevent monopoly and price-fixing in the channels of trade. The law can be enforced through civil or criminal suits. The record shows that civil suits have been successful in breaking down combinations of trade, but the department of justice lately has been using the weapon of criminal prosecutions to force business men to agree to fair trade practices, which have never before been adjudicated by a court in a civil action.

Even if it be conceded, however, that it is proper for a governmental department to hold the threat of criminal trials over the heads of successful business men in order to make them agree to something which neither congress nor the courts has ordered them to agree to, there remains the question of equal application of the law to all classes of citizen.

The department of justice, moreover, has gone on record as saying that when it prosecutes labor organizations under the Sherman law it will not use criminal statutes just why a governmental department should withhold prosecution of one set of citizens engaged in alleged violations of the same law and apply its criminal indictments to another set of citizens who manage business operations is unexplained by any public or private pronouncement from the New Deal.

The only explanation that will be inferred is that the administration is actively engaged in a policy of business-baiting for political purposes and objectives. Even in handling prosecutions of labor, the suits are filed against the A. F. of L. and not against the CIO. Indeed, when the CIO gets into trouble under the Sherman law, the department of justice, though not obliged to do so, defends the viewpoint of the CIO as it did in the Appleton case.

Even the high courts nowadays are discriminating between different classes of citizens in construing the Sherman Anti-Trust law. Shortly after a CIO labor union in Philadelphia engaged in a "sit-down" strike and was convicted in a civil suit of violating the Sherman Anti-Trust law by interfering with shipments in interstate commerce, the New Deal appointed new judges in that circuit who promptly reversed their predecessors and, of course, the New Deal majority on the supreme court of the United States upheld the judgment of the Philadelphia court.

Business regulation by government is one of the necessary developments of the complex economic system of our times and there never was a time when the laws against monopoly and price-fixing were so much in need of clarification; but when the department of justice discriminates between citizens it breaks down faith in all laws on the part of the citizenry.

Disregard Precedents
Thus what the tobacco company executives are alleged to have done relates to a complicated system of marketing which happens to have increased the tax receipts of the government by billions of dollars in this last decade of the depression. Effective marketing has been a distinct public benefit. If their marketing practices are approximately in conformity with previous decisions of the supreme court, business men have a right to have their problems resolved in a civil suit. The fact that the precedents are being disregarded by a new supreme court makes it all the more necessary to give business a chance to find out what the new interpretations of law by the New Deal cover and this can be done, as it has already been done in some instances, by means of a civil proceeding.

Put Up Entrance Bars in Unprecedented Move

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
Madison — For the first time in the history of higher education in Wisconsin a state educational board has set up formal restrictions upon admission of young people to state institutions of higher education.

At its last meeting the state board of teachers' college regents adopted a resolution which will have the effect of barring the graduates who rank in the lowest one fourth of their high school classes from admission to the nine state teachers' colleges.

Although the fundamental purpose of the restriction is to raise the quality of the students enrolled in the teacher training schools of the state—which today have a total enrollment of about 8,000—the decision was reached this summer because of the necessity of complying with budget cuts ordered for the next school year, officials explained.

Will Cut Enrollment
According to Edgar G. Doudna, secretary of the normal school board, the new rule will reduce the present enrollment by about 300. The formula on which high school graduate applicants will be tested is based on their high school records and the psychological test given to all high school sophomores. The result, approximately, will be to bar anyone who is not in the upper 75 per cent of his school class, it was explained.

Asked about the legal basis for such a ruling, Doudna said that the teachers' colleges are professional schools, and that the administrative board governing them is empowered to set up restrictions upon admissions.

Reaches All-Time High
During the last school year enrollment in the nine state colleges, according to latest records, reached an all time high of 8,100. In the fall of 1928 there were 5,008 students.

"Several factors contribute to this phenomenal growth," Doudna observes. "Teaching with its relative stability and security is appealing to many young people who a few years ago were inclined to scoff at the idea of becoming teachers," he points out.

"Scholastic standards of the colleges have been raised and with this has come a changed attitude toward them. The economic situation has also been a factor. When times are hard and employment is difficult to secure young people are disposed to improve their preparation for the more hopeful days which they vision in the near future. The far-sighted young person looking forward to teaching as a life work recognizes that the struggle for success is going to be difficult and that the rewards will generally go to those who are best qualified."

Teaching staffs of the colleges total about 450 members. They instruct at an average period about 8,100 students and an additional 2,400 pupils in the training schools of the colleges, which officials report is a high teacher-pupil average.

High Grade Teachers
The state board has gradually followed policies looking toward the improvement in the qualifications of teachers in the college system. It is now infrequent that a vacancy is filled by any one who has not at least a master's degree. Ten years ago the total of master's and doctor's degrees among the faculty was 139; today the total is 327, including 75 doctor's degrees, Doudna recently reported to the board.

Normally 85 per cent of the graduates of the colleges are placed in teaching jobs upon graduation. In recent years demands for teachers in English, history and other special subjects exceeded the supply, and the trend appears to continue.

Doudna feels that the future will bring a uniform 4-year training period for all teachers in the colleges, and that equal pay for equal training will be the rule.

"We shall also have a period of in-service training after graduation just as the medical profession now requires a period of internship before active practice. Perhaps there will be periodical checkups to maintain the highest possible level of professional knowledge and skill," he says.

Brigade May Get Onaway Island, Stilt Tells Club

Captain Gives First Talk on Organization At Kiwanis Meeting

Neenah — The Neenah Boys Brigade may some day acquire Onaway Island, Captain L. C. Stilt of the brigade said in a talk at the noon meeting of the Neenah Kiwanis club Wednesday at the Valley Inn.

In the first talk ever given before a group on brigade work, Stilt outlined the organization's program at the noon meeting.

Onaway Island is owned by an association consisting of directors, several of whom are directors of the brigade association. The brigade holds its summer camps on the island and it has to pay rent for the camp the same as any other group. There are 40 adult leaders in the brigade, all of whom give at least one night a week to the work. This leadership offers the boys a guidance which they don't get in the school or at home, the captain said.

Expect Guidance
"Some parents have come to expect that the brigade is 100 per cent responsible for the guidance of their boys, and we accept some of that responsibility with cooperation, of course," Stilt told the Kiwanians.

He stated that some time ago, the organization was considering hiring a paid, fulltime leader, but the plan was dropped when another organization made a survey of the brigade and decided a paid leader would be the downfall of the group. They reasoned that this organization could continue only with the attention of local individuals.

Outlining the history and development of the brigade, Stilt said that since 1917, the organization has outgrown its quarters twice. It was started in 1900. Stilt contributed the expansion to the change in method in which the boys were divided into grades and each grade in groups of 8 to 11 boys.

All members of the brigade must be affiliated with a church or Sunday school, and there now are 18 churches represented.

One Delinquency
In the 40 years that the brigade has been organized, there has been only one case of juvenile delinquency, and there were four societies working on that case and still nothing could be done, because of the parents, Captain Stilt said.

The cost of operating the organization, exclusive of the summer camp, is between $1,200 and $1,500 per year. This money has been received unsolicited from donors, he said, and the brigade treasury has never been empty.

Captain Stilt said that it is planned to get the money in a different way, contributions for former brigadiers. The plan may be carried out next year.

Stating that the program committees will begin next month to map out a program for the year, Stilt said that 111 topics are prepared for this work. It is the only organization, he said, which has no set program mapped out in a book form.

Brigaders Consume Food by the Ton and Gain Weight at Camp

Neenah — Boys who attended the Neenah Boys' Brigade camp at Onaway Island during June gained, during the 1-week camping period, from six to 10 pounds, and they consumed a lot of food to increase their weights, according to Captain L. C. Stilt.

There were 189 boys who attended the camp which was divided this summer into sections, and the amounts of food they consumed were as follows: 74½ pounds of meat, 427 loaves of bread, 191 pounds of butter, 315 pounds of sugar.

Fifteen cases of vegetables not including the fresh vegetables they had, 55 pounds of prunes, 30 cans of apple sauce, 10 cases of fruit, 221 packages of dry breakfast food, 24 large boxes of oatmeal, 12 packages of cream of wheat, four bunches of bananas, 200 pounds of flour, 30 glasses of jam, 780 quarts of milk, 28 quarts of cream, and 24 quarts of buttermilk.

Camp expenses totaled $1,142.63. Each boy paid $6 for the week.

Nationally known as a lecturer and author, O'Konski has participated in 75 debates.

Another speaker at the picnic will be W. S. Grimmer of the state conservation department. The two talks will be given in the afternoon.

Foundry Faces Butte des Morts

Neenah Nine Seeks Victory in Wolf River Valley Loop

Neenah — The Neenah Foundry, which dropped into a second place deadlock with Omro in the Wolf River Valley league last Sunday, will tangle with Butte des Morts at 2:15 Sunday afternoon at Butte des Morts.

The Foundry has won one game and lost one, dropping a decision to Winneconne, 9 to 6, here last Sunday afternoon.

Butte des Morts last Sunday hung onto a lead deadlock with Winneconne when it defeated Kuetells, 13 to 1. In the other league game, Omro won from Berlin, 12 to 5.

Butte des Morts and Winneconne each have won two games and lost one, while Berlin and Kuetells are tied for cellar position with one victory against two losses.

The Foundry's starting line-up against Butte des Morts probably will consist of Johnson 3b, Hackstock c, R. Schroeder cf, Page 2b, Peterson 1b, Handy ss, Hauke lf, Metzger rf, H. Schroeder p.

The rest of the league lists Sunday will show Kuetells at Omro and Winneconne at Berlin.

Gates Warns Against Private Air Schools

Neenah — Stating that most private training schools don't have connections with major aircraft manufacturers which enable them to guarantee jobs to their graduates, Harry D. Gates, manager of the Neenah-Menasha office of the Wisconsin state employment service, warned Twin City persons against agents of schools who make false or misleading promises.

"Persons planning to enroll in any private trade school with the expectation of obtaining work in an airplane factory on completion of the course usually will be disappointed," Gates said.

The rapid expansion of the aircraft industry to fill commercial and military orders has brought thousands of inquiries regarding work opportunities, Gates stated. Aviation, he said, has always had a great deal of glamour attached to it, and has attracted a large number seeking employment in some branch of the industry, while actually there are fewer than 100,000 persons employed in all branches of the industry in the United States.

Two Players Enter Third Round om Meet

Menasha—Two more players have entered the third round of the tennis tournament conducted by Lee Royer, WPA recreation director. Loran Hurley defeated G. Two more first round matches also have been completed. W. Schmitzer edged John Krautkramer 6-3, 6-4 and E. Beattie defeated John Kuester 7-5, 6-1.

Industrial League To Close First Round

Menasha—The first round of the Menasha Industrial softball league schedule will be completed with two games at 6 o'clock Friday night at the Menasha baseball park. Bantas will oppose the Wooden Ware on the southeast diamond and the Strange Paper team will oppose the unbeaten Marathon team on the northwest diamond.

HEADS DRIVE—Norton J. Williams, president of Equitable Reserve association, Neenah, is chairman of the annual boy scout fund drive now in progress in Neenah and Menasha. He succeeds Rufus Clough, Menasha, chairman the last five years. Over 100 workers are engaged in soliciting funds for the valley boy scout council.

Let Contracts For New School

Twin City Firms Get Plumbing and Wiring Jobs at St. Patrick's

Menasha—Contracts for plumbing, electric wiring, and heating and ventilating of the new $145,000 St. Patrick's school and social center have been let by the building and finance committees. Contract for the plumbing went to Reimer and Marold, Menasha, while Keil and Werner, Neenah, received the contract for the electric wiring.

Wenzel and Henoch, Milwaukee, were awarded the heating and ventilating contract. The Milwaukee firm recently completed a $300,000 heating and air conditioning contract in California.

Excavation for the new building started this week while the razing of the old school practically has been completed. Stone from the foundation of the building is being used as a fill along the north end of the school grounds. The main contract for the school building was awarded to the W. C. Smith Construction company, Duluth, Minn.

The old-fashioned blackboard will be a thing of the past in the new building. Instead the writing surfaces will be of glass tinted an aquamarine green in keeping with the color for the patron saint of the parish. Adequate bulletin boards also will be built into the interior walls of the school rooms.

The kitchen in the gymnasium wing will have the newest in electrical equipment while floors will have linoleum over wood to deaden sound.

The junior boys' singles tournament, which will be open to boys under 18 years of age on Jan. 1 will begin at 9 o'clock Friday morning. The championship cup last year was won by Henry DuPont, and Gregory Smith received the runner-up trophy.

The boys' doubles tournament will begin at 9 o'clock Saturday morning, and all boys who were 12 years of age and under on Jan. 1 are eligible to compete. Partners can be matched at the courts. Last year's trophy went to Clayton Lindland and Dan Malchow.

Gold Labels Enter Valley Tournament

Menasha — Gold Labels have entered the Fox Valley Softball tournament which will be played at Manitowoc Aug. 2, 3, and 4. The tournament this year is the third annual one.

Propose Plan To Speed Up Neenah Traffic

Council to Consider System; Ownership of Land to be Discussed

Neenah — A proposed plan for the elimination of traffic congestion on Wisconsin avenue and Commercial street will be submitted to the city council by Police Chief Irving Stilt and Harvey Nash, chairman of the council committee on traffic and safety, at a meeting Friday evening at the city hall.

Preceding the session, the councilmen will meet on Lake Shore drive where they will consider further the problem of ownership of the strip of land between the road and Lake Winnebago.

The proposed traffic plan provides for creating three lanes of traffic on N. Commercial street from North Water street to Wisconsin avenue and four lanes of traffic from North Water street to Nicolet boulevard as well as routing all Kimberly-Clark corporation traffic over its new bridge at N. Church street and adopting no left turns on N. Commercial street at E. and W. Canal streets.

From North Water street to Wisconsin avenue, there would be two lanes of southbound traffic on N. Commercial street but only one lane of northbound traffic, while north of North Water street there will be two lanes of traffic going both directions.

All traffic out of the Kimberly-Clark property will be routed north over the bridge and on N. Church street to W. Wisconsin avenue, including employees living on the island, requiring them to make the circuit to N. Commercial street via W. Wisconsin avenue.

Eliminating left turns on N. Commercial street at E. and W. Canal streets will help do away with traffic congestion on that thoroughfare. It is further proposed to adopt no left turns on Commercial street at Wisconsin avenue during the heavy traffic periods only.

The council's traffic and safety committee, Kimberly-Clark officials and Chief Stilt have been working out the plan.

Ownership Disputed
Ownership of the Lake Shore drive land has been the topic of discussion at the last two council meetings, having been revived by Mrs. Helen K. Stuart, chief proponent of the city's claim against the claim by property owners along the thoroughfare.

At the last meeting, councilmen suggested that the area be made into a park and a test case be made of it, but the suggestion was temporarily dropped, pending Friday night's meeting.

City Attorney John W. O'Leary read a decision of the supreme court on the question in which it was stated that the city's rights to the land were restricted to highway purposes, and the attorney explained that the city couldn't make a park area out of the land not used for highway purposes. He pointed out that riparian rights is a definite state law.

Vote Another Hearing in 41

Highway Committees Of 2 Counties Agree On Course of Action

Post-Crescent Oshkosh Bureau Oshkosh—In a joint session at Fond du Lac Wednesday morning, the highway committees of Winnebago and Fond du Lac counties went on record unanimously favoring a re-hearing on the proposed relocation of Highway 41. Both communities agreed to recommend such a proceeding to their respective county boards the next time they meet.

D. F. Culbertson, Green Bay division engineer, appeared before the two highway committees and told them that a public hearing would be called by the state department.

Culbertson told committee members that the proposed change represents a concession on the part of the state highway commission to local interests that want Highway 41 built closer to Oshkosh and Fond du Lac than the present plan proposes.

Changes in the re-location of Highway 41, if approved, would turn the new highway in a more south-easterly direction south of Oshkosh towards Fond du Lac. Under the new proposal, the highway would turn south east in a gradual curve until it reached Van Dyne where it would then join present 41. Traffic entering Oshkosh would have the choice of County Trunk 1 or Highway 26.

In addition to bringing Highway 41 closer to Oshkosh and Fond du Lac, the change contemplates reconstruction of Jackson Drive at Oshkosh from Algoma boulevard to Murdock street and the widening and improvement of present Highway 41 from Murdock street to Brooks corners.

The recommendation of the Winnebago highway committee for a re-hearing will be considered at a special session of the county board Aug. 13.

Church Does Not Forget Man's Temporal Interests, Audience at Park Is Told

Explaining that although religion does not exist to furnish bread and butter but to provide the means for attaining salvation, the Rev. Anscar Parsons, O. M. Cap., said in a lecture last night at Pierce park, that religion inculcates the lesson of justice and charity and thus ultimately supplies bread and butter to thousands. Father Anscar's talk entitled "Justice" was one of a series being sponsored by Father Fitzmaurice council, Knights of Columbus.

"The church exists to promote the reign of justice," the speaker

continued. "That is the reason why it will denounce injustice wherever such is found . . . The greater part of social and economic distress today arises from the unfair distribution of bread and butter. In endeavoring to promote the reign of justice the church tries to state what is fair and just and to indicate the method of obtaining one's share."

Denounces Communism

Father Anscar denounced both communism and fascism, stating that he is opposed to the former because he is a human being and a Christian and to the latter because he is an American. He quoted from statements by Pope Leo XIII and Pius XI regarding capital and labor, and said that by emphasizing duties as well as right and by her teachings on Christian charity and the brotherhood of all men, the church does much to mitigate the conflict between labor and capital.

"The church is not so taken up with man's eternal welfare as to forget his interests that are temporal and material," Father Anscar concluded, "but still the church never fails to remind man that he have not here a lasting city. A living is only a part of life. Not on bread alone doth man live. But if we seek the kingdom of God and His justice, all other things—including our daily bread—will be added unto us."

Organization Meeting Held By GOP Women

Joshua Johns Says Patriotism Must be Put Above Party Lines

About 80 women attended an organization dinner meeting last night at Butte des Morts golf club.

Congressman Joshua L. Johns was the principal speaker. A certificate, signed by Outagamie county Republican and Young Republican officers, was presented to the committee yesterday to exempt "conscientious objectors" from combat training. Under the tentative plan, such exemption would be granted to anyone who could prove that he objected to military service on religious grounds. The committee is considering giving a bureau in the justice department power to pass on claims of the "conscientious objectors."

Congressman Johns said there is but one issue in the coming campaign of importance and that is whether "our present form of government is to be preserved."

"If it is to be preserved we must continue our constitutional form of government with a democracy within a republic," he said. "In order to do that we must put patriotism above party lines and work diligently to put men into office whose record in the past has been one of love of country and good citizenship."

Board Again to Consider Pool

Sewer Bids Accepted, Assessment Made at Yesterday's Session

The board of public works was slated to sit this afternoon, in 93 degree heat, to do something about a swimming pool for Appleton youngsters, who also have the heat as a problem and no pool as the solution.

City officials have been making trips to look at pools, holding meetings to study pools and talking about pools. Several sessions were scheduled at which the board was to select an engineer or architect to draw the plans but action always was deferred. At today's meeting an engineer or architect, and the type of pool to be built, is up for action again.

At a meeting yesterday the board devoted its attention to accepting connecting sewer bids and ordering water main and curb and gutter installations.

Relief From Heat Forecast For Tonight

Charles Bradley, 63, of Auroraville died of heart attacks which physicians said were caused by the heat. Otto Speth, 25, Darlington farmer, was found dead in a field after failing to return to his barn.

Seven persons were treated in Milwaukee hospitals for heat prostrations.

A 35-mile-an-hour windstorm brought relief to Rhinelander yesterday, dropping the temperature from the nineties to the seventies. A few roofs were damaged. Cyclonic winds also damaged power lines, trees and buildings in the Ashland neighborhood.

Janesville and Burlington were the state's hottest spots yesterday, with 104 and 103 respectively. Madison had 102. In addition to Milwaukee, both Monroe and Kenosha reported 100. Racine's high was 99, and La Crosse's 98.

Beaches, swimming pools, ice cream and soft drink stands and porches were crowded with refugees from the heat last evening and many sought escape in cool basements. People of Appleton and vicinity waited patiently for cooling breezes that would make bedrooms more comfortable, but breezes were few and far between.

The heat had no influence on Outagamie county circuit court proceedings. Judge Joseph R. McCarthy has been conducting cases all week, with a gigantic fan doing its best to keep the jury cool.

Cars poured into the High Cliff vicinity where picnickers and bathers swarmed over the park and beaches. The high temperatures have slowed down golfing activities in Appleton and brought tennis almost to a standstill.

Cooler air began moving eastward last night, bringing relief to Montana, Wyoming, the Dakotas, and parts of Minnesota.

Forecasters said the air mass would overspread the upper Mississippi valley and Great Lakes region by tomorrow night and should be felt all the way to the Atlantic seaboard by Saturday.

Thundershowers promised temporary relief today for most of the midwest and much of the east. Temperatures, however, remained abnormally high from the Rockies to the Atlantic.

338 Fatalities In Nation
At least 338 deaths were attributed directly or indirectly to the torrid spell, more than a week old in some sections. There were 131 heat fatalities and 207 drownings. In addition more than a half dozen were killed by lightning.

Most of the heat deaths were recorded in the middle west. Illinois had 24, Minnesota and Pennsylvania 14 each, Michigan 15, Ohio and Wisconsin 12 each.

Temperatures above 100 were common in the midwest yesterday. The mercury climbed to a dizzy height of 116 degrees at Beloit, Kas., and Long Pine, Neb.

A 68 year record for July 24 was smashed in Denver when the temperature reached 99. Chicago's 101 was the highest in four years and a six year high of 105 was recorded in La Porte, Ind.

Other maxima included: Tyndall, S. D., and Las Vegas, Nev., 113; Logan, Ia., 110; Sioux City, Ia., 107; Akron, Colo., 106; Overton, Neb., 105.

Severe electrical storms and heavy thundershowers struck New York, Pennsylvania, Mich., Minnesota and Ohio last night and early today. Streets were flooded in Schenectady, N. Y., Albany, N. Y., and Allentown, Pa. A hail storm damaged berry crops in northern Wisconsin while high winds leveled considerable timber in northwestern Minnesota.

Township Was Established in 1839 Is Claim

Records Show That Accepted Date, 1842, Is Incorrect—Wolf

Kaukauna—The belief that the township of Kaukauna was not begun until 1842 is incorrect, William F. Wolf, student of the Grignon home and custodian of Outagamie county history, stated yesterday.

He claims that the township was started in 1839 and has original records to back up his contention. The accepted version in Kaukauna, he said, is that 1842 marked the beginning of this community.

"The town of Kaukauna was created March 8, 1839, by the territory legislature and was signed by Henry Dodge as territorial governor," he continued. "The form of government was a county commission form. In 1842 the type of government was changed from this county commission form to the township system."

"That is where they get the date 1842 for the creation of the town of Kaukauna. That date is also given in several county and city histories."

These original documents cited as proof by Mr. Wolf are the certification of Charles A. Grignon as commissioner from this district and a copy of the proceedings of the territorial legislature for the year 1838 which mentioned the creation of the town of Kaukauna, then known as Kakalin.

Named Kakalin

The legislative record reads: "Townships 18, 20, 21, and 22 in ranges 18 and 19 shall be a separate town by the name of Kakalin and the elections in said town shall be held in Grignon's trading house."

This included within the township all the land from De Pere south to Brothertown in Calumet county and from Appleton east to the town of Morrison.

The certification of Charles Grignon as commissioner from the town reads: "I, Charles Grignon, clerk of the board of county commissioners, Brown county, Wisconsin Territory, do hereby certify that Charles A. Grignon was duly elected commissioner for one year agreeable to the returns from the several precincts in the county of Brown at an election held on the 5th day of August, A. D. 1839."

Charles Grignon remained supervisor until 1851 and it was during his term that the first school system was started and the first highways laid out.

Says U. S. Gas Best Product

Oshkosh Dealer Tells Story of Oil Before Kaukauna Rotarians

Kaukauna—The state of Wisconsin was paid over $20,000,000 in taxes from gasoline and oil last year, the Rotary club was informed yesterday by Harry Nankervis, Oshkosh oil dealer.

Mr. Nankervis reviewed the story of oil in his speech before the luncheon meeting of the Rotarians, tracing it back to the Bible and to the Egyptians who used it in mummifying bodies.

The United States is the only country having an efficiency of production, refining, and research of petroleum that keeps the price within the ordinary buying power of its citizens, he said.

No longer is gasoline the leading product of the petroleum industry, but rather kerosene and fuel oils, the speaker declared.

Mr. Nankervis also held that the gaso supplied to the British by the United States is by far superior to that supplied in Germany, producing a motor speed of 30 miles an hour more than the German gaso-line.

Railroads Set Up Military Section

Washington—The Association of American Railroads established a military transportation section Tuesday to maintain close liaison between the country's military forces and its rail systems.

Headquarters of the section will be in the Washington office of the quartermaster general of the army, with field representatives at important points elsewhere. Arthur H. Gass, who assisted the late General W. W. Atterbury in handling American equipment in France during the World war, has been named manager of the section.

"The military transportation section and the regional passenger associations will cooperate in working out routings and schedules for all troop movements," the association said. "The section will also gather all necessary information regarding freight and passenger equipment needed by the army. To facilitate carrying out this assignment, military representatives will furnish to representatives of the railroad, on duty with them, information as to troop movements, car requirements, supplies and equipment to be moved and all necessary details."

Township Was Established in 1839 Is Claim

Records Show That Accepted Date, 1842, Is Incorrect—Wolf

Kaukauna—The belief that the township of Kaukauna was not begun until 1842 is incorrect, William F. Wolf, custodian of the Grignon home and student of Outagamie county history, stated yesterday.

He claims that the township was started in 1839 and has original records to back up his contention. The accepted version in Kaukauna, he said, is that 1842 marked the beginning of this community.

"The town of Kaukauna was created March 8, 1839, by the territory legislature and was signed by Henry Dodge as territorial governor," he continued. "The form of government was a county commission form. In 1842 the type of government was changed from this county commission form to the township system."

"That is where they get the date 1842 for the creation of the town of Kaukauna. That date is also given in several county and city histories."

These original documents cited as proof by Mr. Wolf are the certification of Charles A. Grignon as commissioner from this district and a copy of the proceedings of the territorial legislature for the year 1839 which mentioned the creation of the town of Kaukauna, then known as Kakalin.

Named Kakalin
The legislative record reads: "Townships 19, 20, 21, and 22 in range 18 and 19 shall be a separate town by the name of Kakalin and the elections in said town shall be held in Grignon's trading house."

This included within the township all the land from De Pere south to Brothertown in Calumet county and from Appleton east to the town of Morrison.

The certification of Charles Grignon as commissioner from the town reads: "I, Charles Childs, clerk of the board of county commissioners, Brown county, Wisconsin Territory, do hereby certify that Charles A. Grignon was duly elected commissioner for one year agreeable to the returns from the several precincts in the county of Brown at an election held on the 5th day of August, A. D. 1839."

Charles Grignon remained supervisor until 1851 and it was during his term that the first school system was started and the first highways laid out.

Legion Loses Softball Title

Soldiers Drop Game To Oshkosh and Miss Chance in Tournament

Kaukauna—By losing a close game to the Oshkosh American Legion team yesterday, the Kaukauna Legion players were eliminated from a chance at the state Legion tournament.

The score of yesterday's game was 9 to 8 in favor of the Oshkosh squad, which was the home team. Kaukauna led all the way until the seventh inning when Oshkosh tied the score, forging ahead in the following inning. Kaukauna outbatted Oshkosh team, getting 14 hits to 11 for Oshkosh.

The score was 6 to 2 at the beginning of the seventh inning but Kaukauna got one score and Oshkosh five during that inning, making the score tied. Oshkosh took two runs in the eighth while Kaukauna got their other run in the ninth, the inning ending with Kaukauna having the bases loaded. Peterson led the hitting for Kaukauna by getting two home runs during the game.

Says U. S. Gas Best Product

Oshkosh Dealer Tells Story of Oil Before Kaukauna Rotarians

Kaukauna—The state of Wisconsin was paid over $20,000,000 in taxes from gasoline and oil last year, the Rotary club was informed yesterday by Harry Nankervis, Oshkosh oil dealer.

Mr. Nankervis reviewed the story of oil in his speech before the luncheon meeting of the Rotarians, tracing it back to the Bible and to the Egyptians who used it in mummifying bodies.

The United States is the only country having an efficiency of production, refining, and research of petroleum that keeps the price within the ordinary buying power of its citizens, he said.

No longer is gasoline the leading product of the petroleum industry, but rather kerosene and fuel oils, the speaker declared.

Mr. Nankervis also held that the gasoline supplied to the British by the United States is by far superior to that supplied in Germany, producing a motor speed of 30 miles an hour more than the German gasoline.

Beauty and You

SHE AVOIDS FATIGUE—Myrna Loy preserves her serene, appealing beauty by avoiding fatigue. This adoring wife and career woman feels most of a woman's problems are imaginary and a good rest banishes them. Her next picture is "I Love You Again."

Isn't it a fact that things run much more smoothly when you are well rested? You take little problems in your stride and you face the big problems with logic. But just allow yourself to get very tired and all problems take on alarming proportions. You worry a great deal and in no time at all you have developed fear—fear of the future, fear that you lack ability, fear of everything. That is a horrible state to drift into, and every woman should avoid it like the plague!

Your Day
You are capable of doing only so much each day. Your body tires and your mind tires after you have worked them six, eight or ten hours. If you strain them beyond their normal endurance you are rapidly using up your reserve energy.

Personally, I do not think any woman has "reserve" energy. We have energy, yes, a goodly supply of it. If we are in good health, we have more of it than if we are in poor health. But I cannot be convinced that we "store" energy for emergencies. To my way of thinking every woman requires so much rest, so much mental relaxation and so much exercise each day to keep running normally and doing all that is demanded of her. There is little chance of creating more energy than what she needs daily!

Therefore it is evident that you as a woman, or girl, should so plan your days as to avoid fatigue. Especially if you are not currently meeting an emergency such as caring for a sick loved one or "pinch hitting" for another temporarily indisposed.

It doesn't hurt a mite for a woman to have an eight-hour day of work—either in the home or at business. But if her workday stretches on into the night, she is going to get tired and trouble begins.

Stop the Unnecessary
My criticism of women who are chronically fatigued or worried is that they fill their days (and their nights too) with unnecessary obligations and tasks.

Take an hour today, relax on a bed, and think over all the things you think you MUST do. I'll bet half of them are not necessary! If you didn't do them your little world would go on just as smoothly and you would be less tired!

I know women who are fortunate enough to have assistance with their housework. Instead of delegating certain tasks to their maids, and then relying on their maids to carry them out intelligently, they use up valuable energy either checking on how the maid did them or actually helping the maid do them! Other women who get so tired that everything irritates them use up good energy complaining about how things are done for them!

I know another woman who THINKS she MUST scrub her kitchen floor every single day. Another young housewife feels she MUST use the vacuum on her rugs each day, when twice a week would be adequate. An office executive I know MAKES IT HER DUTY to check on the goings and comings of her little staff when actually a timekeeper is hired for that purpose! A social lady I know uses up energy fretting because she isn't asked to all the parties a certain group gives and in entertaining bores who are "so-ciety." Another worrisome woman has become a frightful bore interfering with her two daughters-in-law. She is frustrated because they won't do things her way. That is why she is always tired.

How do you waste your energy? Why not save it for fun, beauty and good health?

My Neighbor Says—

When "battered" crumbs are called for, the best way is to melt butter, add crumbs and mix well and then sprinkle over the top of food. If butter is merely "dotted" over the top it does not evenly mix with the crumbs.

Handle doughnut dough as little as possible. When frying, doughnuts should quickly come to the top, browned on under side, and they can then be easily turned to brown upper side. The fat should be kept of uniform temperature during frying; if too hot the doughnuts brown before they are cooked inside, and if too cold the doughnuts will be flat and greasy soaked.

To broil roasts, steaks or chops first brown the meat, then put in a tightly covered utensil with very little water either on the top of stove or in oven, and continue cooking slowly until meat is tender.

Cooked prunes stuffed with celery and nuts make a tempting salad. Stuffed prunes can also be used as a garnish for chops, roasts or steaks.

Parents' Duty to Clean Up News Stands, Films

BY ANGELO PATRI

Pictures of all kinds have great influence on children's education. If they are in good taste they set good taste in children. If they are informative they set ideas in the children's minds. The quality and the kinds of those ideas are inherent in the pictures.

What then are we to say about pictures set forth in color and sound, dramatically, by experts—when those pictures make crime a gay adventure, murder a pastime, adultery a joke, beauty and grace and power allies of such ideas? We are to say, "Away with them!" and mean it. They are harmful to children and, therefore, an affront and an injury to society. Away with them!

Dangerous in Hands of Weakminded
What are we to say about magazines that publish salacious pictures under the guise of art? These are sold under cover. Word is passed about and some unhealthy young person buys one and passes it through the group. I have little fear of the effect of these on the normally healthy-minded, but on the one whose mind is cast in that unhealthy direction they are a direct stimulant and incitement to action.

They are dangerous because they incite weakminded, evil-beset persons to sex crimes. Away with them and with those who deal in them! There is no question of free speech, free press, freedom of conscience here. The people who send out such stuff have no conscience. Away with them!

It is not wise to talk about such things to children. Parents and teachers must keep a silent and vigilant watch for them and prevent, when possible, their taking hold on the imaginations of the children. If parents took the trouble to write letters of praise for the good pictures, for the fine magazines, and letters of protest against the evil ones, the situation would be vastly improved.

Write Letters

Writing a letter seems to be so much trouble for people, but if that letter and the neighbors' letters will clean up the newsstands and the cheap shows that use such means to attract ignorant, inexperienced children, isn't that trouble worth while? It is far easier to write a letter, or make a call at a newsstand that uses a legitimate business to cover the indecent one, or attend a meeting and speak one's mind, than it is to get a law passed.

Laws are useless unless enforced, and they are enforced only when the full power of public opinion is with them. If that opinion is fully and loudly expressed the law isn't necessary. We can save the expense and do the job better and sooner. Pick up your pen the next time this situation rises to vex you, and call on the neighbors to do the same.

Case Records of a Psychologist

By Dr. George W. Crane
Psychologist, Northwestern University

When a reasonably attractive male tells a woman he loves her, whispers a few saccharine love phrases in her ear, and flatters her vanity by saying he'll go to the devil, except for her angelic influence, she usually becomes putty in his hands. Don't believe a man's "line" unless his background and business record check with his glib phrases. Logically pick your man on the basis of a character, pay check and ambition; then fall in love afterwards. It doesn't take 30 years to fall in love but it takes 20 years to make an eligible prospect for marriage.

CASE R-128: Theodosia B., aged 19, is a college coed now in the throes of a violent love affair.
"I can't live without Jim," she protested tearfully, when her parents sent her to see me about the case.

"Mother and Father want me to break my engagement to Jim, and take a trip with them, but I simply couldn't live without him."
"Dr. Crane, I know he has done many things which are wrong, but I love him. Don't you think I should stick to him?"

DIAGNOSIS:
Let me give you some of the facts about Jim. He has been married twice already, and has a child by each of his previous wives. He is 36, in contrast to Theodosia's 19.

He has no job but manages to keep a little money in his pocket by gambling on the ponies, playing poker or cajoling loans from gullible females. He can't even pay the alimony to his two former wives.

The saccharine love phrases which he artistically pours into Theodosia's ears, have been poured into the ears of several women over the past 20 years, including his two former wives.

He can smoothly turn on his amative "line" and captivate impressionable girls like Theodosia.

Don't Marry To Reform A Man
"But he says with my love and devotion, he'll turn over a new leaf," she pleaded.

That's the same variety of baloney the serpent used on Eve in the garden of Eden and it is still making dupes out of gullible girls today.

When you marry, you should demand quality stuff. Don't expect to rebuild a man's habits and morals, especially if two previous wives have also failed in the process.

It takes two women to make a good husband. The first is his mother. She usually has about 18 years to make him considerate, kind, unselfish, industrious, religious, and honorable.

If she fails in her job, then the second woman has two strikes on her when she takes him over.

STREET CLOTHES

No one can explain the vagaries of fashion, or why we follow them. I remember writing in this column that if a leading designer were to announce that the ends of noses should be painted green, the streets would be polka-dotted with green! A candid camera press picture taken of a Hollywood star or a social leader carelessly clothed would surely bring many letters such as this:

"Is it no longer necessary to wear a hat with street clothes? Lately, I've noticed that young girls dancing in our dine-and-dance restaurants are in street-length dresses and without hats. I think perhaps the present day practices have relaxed the old rule that hats are essential with street clothes, but I wish you'd explain about this."

The only additional answer I can make is that according to the principles of suitability, town street clothes not only require a hat, and gloves, but shoes that can be walked in without a wabbling of the foot at each step. By and by—but

In the greatest game in life; namely, marriage, be sure you give yourself a fair chance.

Don't accept inferior mates. Love is simply a cluster of emotional habits developed around a certain individual, much as in yesterday's Case Records, I showed you that Philip's fondness for hamburgers was a matter of habit.

Don't Be A Slave To Emotion
Never be ruled by your emotions! You were given a brain so that you could steer your behavior by wisdom instead of by gastric and sex appetites.

You can always fall in love if you go through the motions with an attractive member of the opposite sex. In fact, most people have had several love affairs before they finally marry.

An attractive man can play upon the average woman's emotions and win her heart almost as easily as he can sit down at a piano and learn to play a new piece.

Women tend to be especially gullible regarding love. They seem to retain their childlike belief in Santa Claus and Prince Charming. If they rated their prospective mates and discarded the "spoons" or the shoddy merchandise, they'd wisely pick men who can earn a regular pay check, who are considerate of women, and who have the durable qualities to keep a marriage going happily till the golden wedding anniversary.

no one can say when—fashion will again make up for some of its present-day lack of common sense; it always has in the past.

Seating Is Not the Same In Church
Dear Mrs. Post: Occasionally my husband and I take people with us to church services. Will you explain how we should take our places in our customary pew? I, of course, usually go in first, and my husband sits at the end.

Answer: It makes no difference at all how you sit. In other words, people are never seated in church—where they do not talk—as they are in a theater where they do talk—at least between the acts. As always, your husband waits to take his place last so as to sit in his usual place. The rest of you take your places in the order in which you happen to reach the pew.

A Nice Way to Change a Man's Manners
Dear Mrs. Post: How can I get a man I like, and go out with now and then, to go ahead and help me off the bus or trolley car? He always steps back at the seat and lets me go first, thinking, I am sure, that this is polite.

Answer: You simply go first as far as the door and then stand aside and say to him, "Will you please get off first and help me?"

Same Rules Apply to Annulled Marriage
Dear Mrs. Post: I was married when I was very young and my parents had the marriage annulled. I'm going to marry again, this time with their approval and no eloping. May they announce my engagement, and when the time comes, may I have a wedding complete with veil and orange blossoms?

Answer: To the first, yes. To the second, no. Even though you might have the right to wear the emblems of a maiden bride, it would be in very bad taste to make this announcement.

Mrs. Post is sorry she can no longer answer personal letters. She is glad, however, to have many printed slips on a variety of subjects to offer to her readers. Today's slip is addressed to Mrs. Post, in care of this paper, P. O. Box 150, Times Square Station, New York, N. Y.

Must Make Plan Clear To Partner

BY ELY CULBERTSON

As we all know to our sorrow, partners are only human and, given half a chance, will squish our best laid schemes as tho they were our mortal enemies. Of course, the usual cause for this is misinterpretation of our transcendently brilliant maneuvering rather than any real dislike of us or intention to "fix us." Hence it is all the more important for us to make everything crystal clear to our temporary helpmates, so that after the smoke has cleared away, at least they can't growl: "How'd I know what you had?" In other words, help your partner, as West did in this deal:

North, dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.

The bidding:
North East South West
Pass Pass 3 hearts 4 diam
Pass 5 diam. Pass Pass
5 hearts Double Pass Pass
Pass

The bidding was more or less logical except for North's final bid of five hearts. It is true that North meant this for a sacrifice, that he had some reason to feel that five hearts, even vulnerable, would not be penalized as much as the five diamond contract was worth to the opponents, but in my opinion, this was bad judgment. At any rate, it turned out that way.

West opened the diamond king and upon seeing dummy's singleton club and East's discouraging diamond deuce, promptly shifted to a trump. East won and made certain that dummy would ruff no clubs on this hand by trumping a trump. On this trick West grasped the chance to begin sending an important message to his partner. He discarded the spade deuce. Then, when declarer drew East's last trump West hastily rid his hand of the other spades.

Now declarer led the jack of spades, and when West showed out, East did not have to guess whether or not to accept the trick. Instead of fretting and fuming over the question whether South had started with one or two spades, East merely counted, which, of course, dictated the holdup of the spade ace. After that the defenders automatically received the club tricks to which they were entitled, along with a penalty of 800 points.

It is not my intention to glorify West's discarding of two spades as "brilliant defense." Indeed, his action was simplicity itself, but for that very reason it deserves mention. East might well have guessed to hold up his spade ace without any help from West, but it is far better to play a sure thing than to be at the mercy of partner's guesses.

THE HOME GARDENER
by EDWIN H. PERKINS

While the propagating of roses is work for the specialist rather than the amateur gardener, the subject is a fascinating one. Most amateurs enjoy the thrill of having raised their own rosebushes. Instead of propagating the difficult sorts, the amateur is generally satisfied to grow stronger roses which thrive on their own roots. Hardy sorts like Radiance, among the rosebushes, and Dr. Van Fleet, among the climbers, are easily propagated.

Later in the year roses will be propagated from hardwood cuttings. At this season we use softwood cuttings.

Softwood cuttings, also called greenwood cuttings, may be made between the present and the time when the rose branches mature in preparation for their winter rest. Strong, healthy shoots, regardless of whether they previously bore flowers, should be cut. Select material that is entirely free from disease. Cuttings should have three or four eyes, two of which should be planted under the soil.

Remove the foliage from the two lower buds and reduce off-half the foliage on the portion to protrude above the ground. This allows for only partial evaporation of moisture.

Prepare a box with sand into which the cuttings are to be placed, or select a garden spot known for its light, sandy soil, and insert the cuttings so that the two bottom

Working Girl Should Leave Shiftless Father

BY DOROTHY DIX

Dear Miss Dix—I am a girl 20 years old. When I finished high school three years ago I started to work to help support my mother and father. For a while after I began working my father continued to help pay the bills, but gradually he contributed less and less to the upkeep of the household until finally he stopped working entirely and the whole responsibility of meeting all of the bills fell on me. He is a strong, healthy, able-bodied, middle-aged man and has plenty of chances to work, but he positively refuses to do so. I am terribly tired of supporting him. I even have to buy his cigarettes and give him money to spend for his amusements. My mother is very unhappy and worries a great deal about my being so hard-worked and never being able to afford even the simplest pleasure. And after I go to bed I cry myself to sleep about it. Is there any way out of this? J. B.

Answer:
Certainly there is a way out of it if you have the courage to take it. It is for you and your mother to get up and leave your lazy and selfish father.

Dorothy Dix
You will have to take the initiative in breaking up his free boarding house. He will never leave of his own accord. He has it too easy, with a comfortable place to stay in, three square meals a day and a slave to provide him with clothes and cigarettes and money to spend in the poolroom.

Of course, he will be furious. He will upbraid you for being an ungrateful daughter and point out to you your duty to your poor old father. Don't let his entreaties move you. Tell him that the duty of a father to the child he brought into the world without its consent is a thousand times greater than the duty of the child to the parent, and that she should be supporting you, instead of you supporting him.

When parents are old, or sick, or helpless, it is their children's sacred obligation to care for them. But when parents are middle-aged and strong and healthy, there is no earthly reason why they should knock off work and become parasites upon their children. Nor is it the children's duty to support them when they are perfectly able to support themselves.

Yet, sad to say, there are many men and women who regard parenthood as a racket, and who regard their children merely as slaves provided by nature to support them. When the oldest child takes out his or her working papers, they sit down on the do-nothing stool and fold their hands and let George or Georgianna do it.

It is bad enough, heaven knows, when a middle-aged woman who is stronger, healthier and more able to work than she ever was before in her life, sits down and demands that her children support her for 30 or 40 years, instead of her hustling out and getting a job and taking care of herself.

But it is infinitely worse when an able-bodied man forces his frail and delicate daughter to toil to support him.

Yet such cases are common, and one wonders that the children are foolish and weak enough to stand for such imposition. They do it, of course, from a sense of duty, but it is no one's duty to support a lazy loafer.

Their sacrifice is made in vain, for their parents would be much happier if they had something to do and were independent, instead of grafting money off their children. And the children's lives would be saved.

When A Girl Is Seventeen
Dear Dorothy Dix—We have a problem with our daughter, who is just 17. We have gotten along finely in managing her until within the last few months; but since starting school last fall she has been wanting to go to class plays, dances or something several nights a week, and she has been going with a boy who lives in our neighborhood.

We lectured her and told her about the tricks and tactics used by boys with girls, and she listened and seemed impressed; but I caught her kissing him. I have known this boy's family all my life, and his father and his brothers were all alike—doing everything for a girl until they got her, and after marriage doing nothing to make her even com-

Children Judged by Their Mothers
Dear Dorothy Dix—Our mother loves us and we love her, yet she is our enemy. We are a large family, from young to old, and married. We never get along. Half the time not speaking to each other because our mother has made trouble between us. She is jealous of our affections. The children are never allowed to visit the others who live away from home, and she is a perpetual nagger.

She has never cared how our home looked. The furniture sitting anywhere it was put, always dirty dishes and a musty odor, and she looking slovenly around the house. She would like for us to have friends, but after boys and girls visit our house once they never come back, and she wonders why her children leave home as soon as they are old enough to get away. She calls herself a "modern" mother. If she is a modern mother, give me the old-fashioned kind.

DISGUSTED.
Answer:
Undoubtedly people judge children by their mother, and one who is slovenly and bad tempered and quarrelsome is not a good advertisement for her brood. I have known more than one marriage that was broken off by the young man's first visit to his girl's people. He didn't want a wife who might look after her mother.

He stopped the tram and let her off, went on without comment and did not glance back at her.

All afternoon he piloted his car, unaware of the yellow sun dappling the blue sea, of gaudy beach umbrellas, of noisy shouting children and sandwich-munching parents, aware only that he must escape Lenore.

At six o'clock, when another driver relieved him for the remainder of the evening, he went to the office of the beach transportation company, quit his job without explanation and collected his pay to date. Too disturbed and restless to go home, he sauntered off down the beach, sat on the sand watching fog obscure the setting brilliance of the sun, remained there until the chill of evening wind drove him back to the big red house. The clock in the hall said eight.

Jan heard him and came downstairs. "I kept dinner hot for you in the oven," she smiled. "I'm sorry you had to work so late. You must be tired."

Planned Diving Suit, Fireworks
Sixty-seven years marked the length of Leonardo da Vinci. His last years were spent in France, where he was treated with great kindness by the king, Francis I. In France he was provided with a home surrounded by gardens and fishponds. There were many acres in the estate, and it had meadows and woodlands. He also had a studio where he could draw or paint when he chose.

Nine days before his death, Leonardo made a will, and in it he said all his books and papers were to go to "Francesco da Melzi, gentleman, of Milan."

The writings which he left were the work of many years. They contained a number of plans and

Death of Leonardo at the year 1519 ideas which he had not told to the world. Melzi kept them in the attic of his home, and left them to his son.

Some of the writings were given away by the son, and a long time passed before an attempt was made to gather them for study.

Leonardo set down ways for making "mixtures for fireworks." He told about fossils he had found in the Alps mountains. He gave plans for making cannon.

Tests in clock-making were made by this great, many-sided man. He wrote a book on different kinds of mills, and put in drawings of mill-wheels.

Among his inventions was a new kind of wheelbarrow, a diving suit, and a boat to be moved by paddle-wheels worked by men. He also planned a machine for making coins and a saw which would cut stone.

An odd thing about Leonardo was his custom of writing from right to left. He was able to write the other way, but seldom did so. To read his writing, it was necessary for a person to look at it in a mirror.

So we come to the end of our stories about Leonardo da Vinci. He shines in human history like a bright star.

Chi Sox Are Hot; Cop Sixth Game in a Row

Cincinnati Reds Again Give Brooklyn Dodgers a Lesson

By The Associated Press

The Chicago White Sox, riding the crest of a winning streak, were as hot as the Windy City's 100-degree weather yesterday and banged out 20 hits to defeat the Boston Red Sox 12-10 in an American league baseball game.

The victory was the Chicagoans' sixth in a row.

The White Sox started things in the first inning, scoring six runs, but Boston kept pecking away and had the tying runs on base in the ninth when the side was retired.

Boston used four pitchers, Chicago three. Bill Dietrich was credited with the victory.

Dietrich, Moose Solters, Joe Kuhel and Bob Kennedy smashed home runs for the winners. Manager Joe Cronin and Ted Williams homered for Boston. In addition, there were three triples and six doubles in the game. Hits totaled 34, for 64 bases.

In one of the two National league games the Chicago Cubs dropped a 4-3 decision to the Boston Bees, who snapped a six-game losing streak.

The Bees twice came from behind, the deciding run resulting from Carvel Rowell's triple in the seventh inning.

Rabbit Warstler, purchased from the Bees, broke into the Cub lineup in the third inning as relief for Bobby Mattick at shortstop. He went hitless in two times at bat.

Reds Thrash Dodgers

As the Cincinnati Reds thrashed the Brooklyn Dodgers, 6-3, last night for Brooklyn's 17th victory this season, fans sat back and told their neighbors they were looking at the next world champions.

That was how smoothly the Reds disposed of the next best team in the National league.

They didn't make a fielding error during the entire three-game series, which they swept with comparative ease to inflate their first place margin to eight full games.

The Reds have won 17 of their last 19 games.

Walters was at the peak of his form and his teammates scored one run in the first inning and four more in the second, when they drove Tex Carleton off the mound with a triple and four singles.

Walters himself made two of the Reds' 11 hits. He muffed the Dodgers on five safeties until the ninth inning, when a single by Joe Medwick and a home run by Dolph Camilli saved Brooklyn from a complete rout.

While the Reds have been settling the pennant dispute in the National league to all intents and purposes, the American league fight has narrowed practically to two teams—Detroit and Cleveland.

Hutchinson Wins

The Tigers kept half a game in front with a 7-5 decision over the Washington Senators that was credited to Fred Hutchinson, their $70,000 rookie. With Hank Greenberg hitting his eighteenth homer and Pinky Higgins his seventh, Detroit acquired a 7-0 lead only to give back five of it in the sixth and seventh innings. It took some fine relief hurling by Al Benton to pull through the Tigers.

The Indians squeezed past the Philadelphia Athletics, 7-6, with Roy Weatherly's two-run homer providing the principal impetus and lefty Al Smith getting credit for his tenth victory, although he lasted only until the sixth.

At St. Louis, the Browns ripped open the world champion New York Yankees, 14-12, after the Yanks had tallied six runs in the first frame. The Yanks got four homers, including one by Bill Dickey with the bases loaded and another by Joe DiMaggio that extended his hitting streak to 17 games.

But the Browns kept digging

Interest High In Peninsula Park Golf Meet

Appleton Players Are Expected to Enter Annual Event

Ephraim, Wis.—With scores of players including several champions, already declaring themselves in and the country over-flowing with summer visitors, indications point to the largest entry list in the history of the annual Peninsula State Park golf tournament which will open this year Monday, Aug. 12. Finals will be played Aug. 16.

Pro Clem Clemenson, in announcing the dates, stated that he has more inquiries than ever before, and that, besides coming from Green Bay, Appleton, Oshkosh, and other Fox river valley cities, many are from Milwaukee, Madison, Chicago, St. Louis and Cincinnati.

Two former champions, Owen Carl, Lawrence, Kan., title holder in 1933 and '34, and runner-up last year, and Henry H. Mudd, St. Louis, Mo., are here and will play as well last year's woman champion, Mrs. Spencer Gould, Kirkwood, Mo. Clemenson expects at least a half dozen entries from Appleton.

Play will follow the same pattern as in former years with Monday being qualifying day. Match play will start Tuesday and continue until the finals on Friday. The men's championship finals match is 36 holes.

away for 17 hits off six New York pitchers, took a 12-10 lead in the seventh and after the Yanks tied the score in the ninth, Walter Judnich hit a homer with one on in the last half of the inning to win.

Altogether, the four games in the American league brought into action 30 pitchers, who gave up 111 hits and 73 runs.

Brewers, Hens Split Twin Bill

Milwaukee Wins by 12-9 but Loses in Extra Inning Tilt

Milwaukee—(AP)—The Milwaukee Brewers slugged it out with the Toledo Mudhens in the first game of a doubleheader here yesterday and came out on top, 12 to 9, but couldn't do much against the curveball slants of Harry Kimberlin, Toledo hurler, in the second game, and dropped the decision, 4 to 2, in 10 innings.

The second game was billed for seven frames but at that point the score was tied at 1-1. Toledo then bunched hits in the tenth inning to score three runs and the best the Brewers could do was one in their half.

The Mudhens pounded out 16 hits, to eight for the losers in the second game. In the opener the Brewers collected 13 hits while Toledo made 14.

The score by innings:

(First Game)

Milwaukee	12	0	0

(Second Game)

	R.	H.	E.

The Columbus Red Birds lost their third straight to the league leading Kansas City Blues yesterday, 11 to 5. Thanks to some cooperation from St. Paul, however, they still were riding a high in third position today, a half game in front of Louisville which lost to the Saints, 7 to 3.

In the other game, Minneapolis uncorred six runs in the sixth inning against Indianapolis, but the Indians retaliated with seven in the eighth and added another in the ninth to win, 8 to 6.

Begin Third Round in Kimberly Junior Loop

Kimberly—The first two games of the third round in junior softball competition at the playgrounds saw the Cubs win over the Yanks 2 to 0, and the Giants to defeat the White Sox, 7 to 2. The winning Cubs scored their two runs off two hits in the first frame. T. Behling doubled while R. Dietzen got on by an error. Gaffney's single chased the two runs in. Dietzen also singled in the last frame. For the Yanks D. Vander Zanden singled in the first frame and J. Gerrits in the second for the only two hits of the game.

The Giants made three runs and three hits in the opening frame and four scores and four hits in the second frame. E. Schellkopf had a perfect day at bat, getting two singles, which netted him two runs. S. Kneepkins also scored twice on a walk and a single. The White Sox had Joe La Blanc score on a walk in the second frame while F. Frassetto also crossed home plate after he got off by a fielder's choice.

Clintonville 6, Two Rivers 3.

Clintonville—It took the old warhorse Lefty Joe Petcka to pull one out of the fire last night as the Clintonville Truckers came from behind and triumphed over the Two Rivers Polar Bears, 6 to 3. It was the first win the Truckers have chalked up during the second round of Northern State league play.

Clintonville played its best ball and Manager Sid Felts is convinced that he finally has found a combination which will win. Ty Steff, former Truckers star and more recently a member of the Green Bay Bluejays, returned to his old spot at second base and should prove a valuable asset. Jim Huffman played a bang-up game at first base and Frosty Ferzacca was right at home at short.

Rollie Kersten started the game on third but retired in the sixth in favor of Al Schauer who had been playing in the outfield. Last Sunday at New London, Kersten suffered a sunstroke.

Two Rivers got on the merry-go-round in the first inning with Carl Lehman on the mound for the Truckers. With two outs the Polar Bears counted three times on three doubles and a single before Petcka was called in to take over. Petcka ended the inning forcing a runner at second.

After this frame the veteran of the diamond held the invaders scoreless while his colleagues crossed the counting station six times. Lefty Joe allowed only seven of Two Rivers hits and struck out nine men. Buck Stier, pitched for Two Rivers and gave up 13 hits. Only four Truckers went down via the strike-out route.

Coming from behind a three run lead in the first inning the Truckers tallied twice during their half of the first stanza with consecutive singles by Rollie Halfman, Al Schauer and Frosty Ferzacca. In the fifth, Clintonville took command with Jim Huffman leading off with a double. Gene Volkman bounced one over the fence for an automatic two base hit scoring Huffman. Volkman scored the deciding run on a single by Ferzacca.

For good measure, the Truckers chalked up two more scores in the eighth. Al Anderson who was robbed out of two sure hits by nice fielding on the part of the Polar Bears, led off with a double. Ty Steff bounced one to the shortstop

Appleton Teams In Valley Meet At Manitowoc

18 Squads Expected To Take Part in Softball Tourney

Manitowoc—Eight out-of-town teams have entered the Fox River Valley softball tournament, the third annual classic, Recreation Director Les Mangin announced today. With the five local major teams, this brings the field to 13 clubs and prospects are that four or five more may enter. The tournament dates are Aug. 2, 3 and 4.

To date, Fond du Lac and Oshkosh are the only valley cities not represented. Entry blanks have been sent to the Rueping Leathers of Fond du Lac and the 3000 Cabs of Oshkosh and it is possible that either or both may register before the deadline July 29.

Following are the out of town entries received to date:

Green Bay—Astor Bombers (line-up includes many Green Bay Packers stars); Appleton—Y. M. C. A. and Paper Chemistry teams; Kimberly—South Side A. C.; Menasha—Gold Labels; Sheboygan—Pool Taverners; Two Rivers—Schwartz Mig. company and Pioneer Taverners.

Manitowoc entries will be the South Side Hardware, Sarge Dairy, Stangel Hardware, White House Milks and Bleser Cold Coasts.

Another certain entry is the Scharf's Tavern team of Brillion. The manager has already informed Mangin that he will bring his club here but the formal entry has not been received. The Gauthier Meats of Two Rivers have also made inquiry.

Indications are that the third annual meet will be the best Fox River Valley tournament ever held and the championship team will be truly representative of the best softball team in the valley.

Nine Black Cats Win For Hutchinson Pirates

Hutchinson, Kas.—(AP)—Hutchinson's Pirates bought nine black cats from nine fans for $9 and ended their string of Western association losses at nine games.

Manager Buzz Arlitt scatted one of the cats toward Joplin's pitcher, Johnny Orr in the first inning—then drove in two runs.

In the ninth with the score 11-all two out and a runner on first, Arlitt and his cat strolled to the plate again.

His triple broke up the ball game.

The Appleton Papermakers, who have lost nine straight games in the State league, four of them by a run, bumped bottom last night in the league standings. It all came about when Fondy won a 9 to 4 decision while LaCrosse was blowing up in the ninth to allow Green Bay to win. The Bays and Appleton exchanged places.

Not only did the Papermakers lose the ball game but the jinx which has been following them for the last two weeks appeared again and took Pitcher Jim Higgins. The big fellow was hit in the arm with a batted ball in the sixth and had to leave the hill. An X-ray today showed no break but a bad contusion. He will be out for from ten days to two weeks.

Tonight the Papermakers and Fond du Lac will show again. Roy Millmaki is slated to take the mound for the Appleton team. Fond du Lac's choice has not been announced but it probably will not be Lefty Greens. His turn isn't due for another day or two.

It was a pretty fair ball game last night until Dougherty smashed his drive into Higgins' pitching arm. Thereafter, Fond du Lac had things its own way although the Papermakers kept picking away.

Despite their hard luck in recent starts, the Papermakers played aggressive ball against a good many breaks. Malattia was credited with two misuses at third base but they were due in part to his inability to move easily. He pulled a muscle and for a time it appeared he wouldn't be able to play.

Don Toranson, a recent addition to the club, was in left field and showed well at the plate with two doubles in four times up. He had an error on a bobble of a ground ball. Glen Aronson was behind the plate and while he had a passed ball and difficulty hanging onto Higgins' low throws, he nailed Fond du Lac's first attempt to steal second and thereafter there were no attempts.

Appleton had the first chance to score when Danicak tripled in the first with one out. But he died at third when Hawk rolled to first and Toranson hit back of short and Foth took the catch.

Fondy scored one in the second. With one out Ronovsky singled to center. Metzger then hit a roller to Malavia and with a twin killing in the offing, he bobbled. Ronovsky

Reds Have Used Eight Men in Left, Brooklyn Nine in Right

By EDDIE BRIETZ

New York—(AP)—Gene (Junior) Thompson, the Reds' right-hander, is on crutches as a result of that squabble with the Dodgers Tuesday night, and will be out for about 10 days. They say the Washington Redskins, have 90,000 frogskins in the bank, the result of selling 10,000 tickets, which ain't bad with the season some two months away.

Baseball Dept.

Doug Dean of the Buford (Ga.) team has hit safely in 58 consecutive games and at last reports was still going strong.

... And Bobby Lawrence of the DeKalb (Ga.) sandlotters has flung himself into the amateur hall of fame by winning five games in six days in an amateur tournament—if the scouts don't look this kid over they're crazy.

Here's an oddity about the Dodgers and Reds who are battling for the National league lead. Last year the Reds used eight guys in left field. So far this year the Brooks have used nine in right.

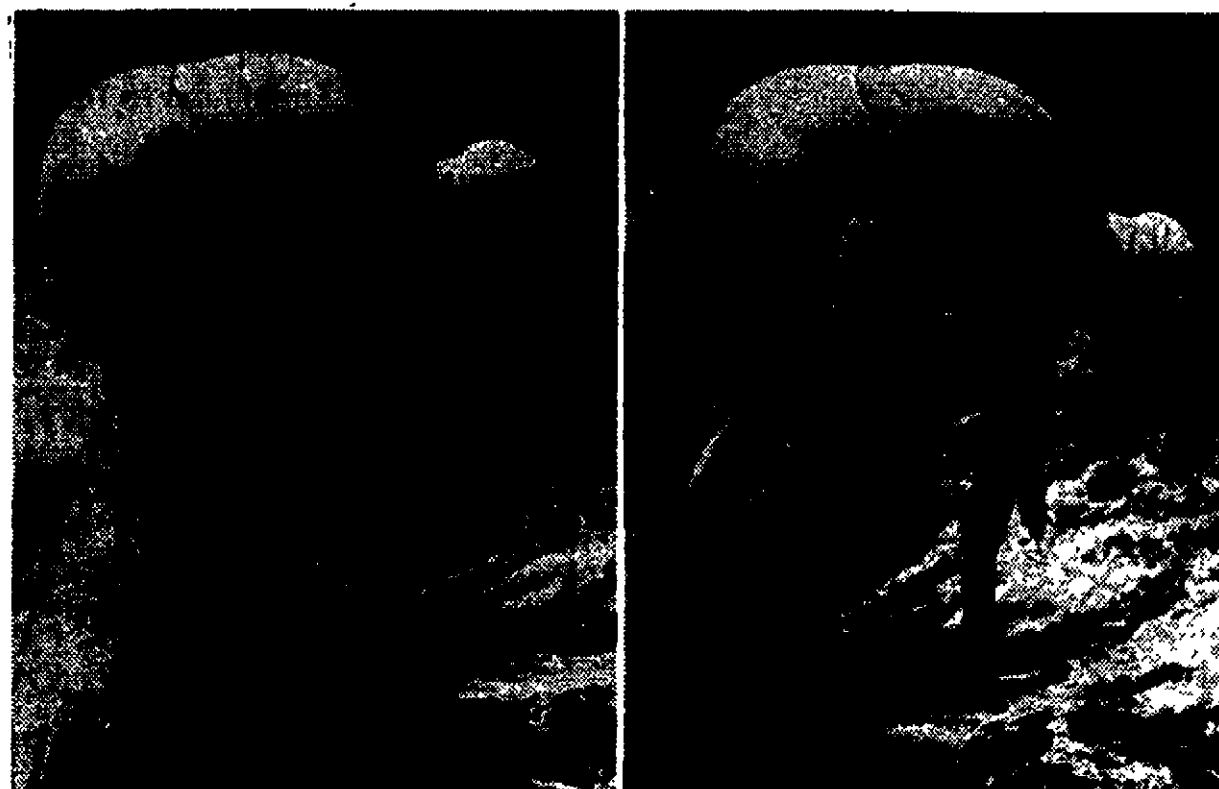

Also, who won 24 games for the Yanks in 1939, have won a grand total of 2 this season. What's the matter with the Yanks, eh? Well, there's two reasons...

This department is glad to see the all-star teams giving the amateur players a break in their annual tussle with the pros. For instance, Bulldog Turner of Hardin-Simmons likely will win a starting berth at center with the western team while the east already has picked Sam Hammerstrom, Union college fullback, for its squad.

finally scored on Wang's single to center.

Two more runs came in the third. Duex singled to center making four straight hits all over second base into centerfield. McCarthy singled to left but Torason bobbled the ball and McCarthy went to second and Duex to third. Duex scored on Monahan's fly to center. Ronovsky's slow roller to third for a hit allowed McCarthy to score.

Appleton got two runs back in the last of the fourth. Torason opened with a double, Oberlander lofted to short and Hoeffken hit a triple to deep right center. Hoeffken then scored on an infield out.

The sixth saw things happen to the Papermacks. With one out, Metzger doubled to left. Daugherty smashed a ball back at Higgins and it caught him on the arm. Metzger scored on the play having gone to third on a passed ball. Al Standaert was called in after a few warmup pitches and retired Wang for the second out. However, Opperman singled to left and Daugherty rambled home.

In the seventh, Fond du Lac took an 8 to 2 lead. Duex walked, McCarthy laid down a bunt and an effort was made to erase Duex at second. He had the throw beat, however, although Oberlander dropped the ball. That left two on base. Monahan then smashed one of Standaert's best pitches to left and it went for a homer and three runs.

Two singles enabled Appleton to get back a run in its half the seventh.

The ninth saw both teams score a run. The Rapids counted on a single, wild pitch and double by McCarthy. Appleton tallied when Malatua tripled and scored on an infield out.

Wisconsin Rapids—Clyde Lorenz, Wisconsin Rapids second baseman, stole home in the last of the tenth to give the White Sox a 3 to 2 victory over Sheboygan in a Wisconsin State league baseball game last night.

The theft broke up a pitchers' battle between Clauson, of Sheboygan, and Slobe, of the White Sox. Sheboygan got four hits and Wisconsin Rapids seven.

Green Is in Again; Pegler Finds Bootlegger in Ranks

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER

New York—Last week while William Green was presenting to the statesmen of the Democratic party at the Chicago convention his desires and demands as president of the American Federation of Labor, your correspondent was pursuing inquiries regarding certain activities of high officers of unions under his general jurisdiction. It may be remembered that these dispatches have twitted Mr. Green about the moral character of the leadership of labor, with a capital L, under the American Federation of Labor, and that Mr. Green, far from exerting himself to dis-infect the house of labor, first pleaded that he had no authority to do so, and, during the first week of June, blindly indorsed the criminals who control the union of stagehands and movie employees. This approval was personally given at the Louisville convention of that racket.

Therefore, it may be anticipated that Mr. Green will regard as another attack on labor, with a capital L, the revelation that the president, no less, of one of his international unions, to wit, Mr. Joseph Ozanic of the Progressive Mine Workers of America, owes an unpaid balance on two fines imposed in the United States district court in 1924 and 1925 for the offense of bootlegging.

Indeed, inasmuch as the two foremost criminals of the Stagehands' union racket are, respectively, a pander and a stick-up man, and bootlegging in 1925 was roughly held to be as noble in purpose as the experiment which it ultimately defeated, Mr. Green might take the attitude that Mr. Ozanic's offense was a patriotic and humane service.

Be that as it may, the fact nevertheless remains that in 1925 bootlegging was, by law, an ignoble trade, and that Mr. Ozanic acquired a court record and a burden of debt to the United States government which latter has not been discharged and is at present a subject of court proceedings brought by Howard Doyle, the United States district attorney at Springfield, the capital of Illinois and of the union.

Mr. Doyle charged to be in Chicago last week, and on the subject of the Ozanic case he said that, of a certainty, Mr. Ozanic did owe a balance of $550 on two fines of $500 and $300 assessed in 1924 and 1925, respectively, and that Mr. Ozanic cut out a term of three months in the city jail of Springfield in the second case.

Ozanic Told Pegler Not to Write His Version

Mr. Doyle said the offenses involved the operation of a still, and your correspondent would like to give Mr. Ozanic's version of the act charged, and of the present status of the case, but is prevented from doing so by Mr. Ozanic himself, who insisted that no part of his comment, given over the phone, should be used for publication. He discussed the affair freely, but forbade himself this access to public opinion which was offered as a matter of course.

Mr. Doyle has taken steps to collect the $550 which he claims to be due and unpaid, and his action suggests a possibility that a rather sizable total of unpaid fines imposed on offenders in years gone by, but placed in abeyance under the pauper's oath provision of the federal law, may now be collected from defendants who have acquired money or property in subsequent years. Under the federal law a defendant who cannot pay may take the pauper's oath and go free after serving 30 days in jail, but the government apparently reserves a right to proceed against that person's wealth, if any, for the full amount, at any future time.

Mr. Ozanic is not the only high officer of an international union of the American Federation of Labor against whose name there stands on the books of the United States government a record of an unpaid fine. Another case will be cited tomorrow.
